AUSTRALIAN AIRMAN PLANS TO COMPLETE CIRCUIT OF WORLD

Kingsford-Smith Announces Intention of Continuing Flight to New York and London, Thence to Antipodes—Legal Fetters Binding Plane at Los Angeles Loosed

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (AP).—The legal fetters which bound his fleet monoplane to the ground loosed, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith today disclosed plans to conquer new aerial worlds. The daring Australian pilot, who recently spanned the Pacific for the second time, disclosed to a group of motion picture officials, whose luncheon-guest he was, that he soon will begin a 17,000-mile flight homeward.

The flight will be a continuation of his eastward crossing of the Pacific, and, if successfully concluded, will constitute his second aerial circumnavigation of the globe.

MADE WESTWARD CIRCUIT

After his first Pacific flight in the famed Southern Cross, back in 1928, in which he flew from Oakland, Calif., to Honolulu, and thence to Fiji Islands and on to his homeland, Kingsford-Smith, still piloting the tri-motored Fokker, continued to England, then spanned the Atlantic, and jealously crossed the North American continent back to his starting point, Oakland.

Kingsford-Smith and his navigator, Capt. P. G. Taylor, arrived here Sunday, after flying from Honolulu to Oakland. Thomas Catton, a promoter, who in 1928 unsuccessfully undertook to obtain financial backing for the now famous flight of the Southern Cross, attached the flyer's new ship at the municipal airport here, contending the Australian pilot owed him $1,750 for "services" and incidental expenses.

Today, however, Kingsford-Smith's legal counsel announced the attachment had been lifted after a conference with Catton's lawyers.

MAKES TRIP IN TWELVE HOURS

Rickenbacker Crosses U.S. in Record Time for Transport Planes

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 8 (AP).—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's big twin-motored transport plane landed at Newark airport at 8:45 p.m. E.S.T. today, setting a new trans-continental record of 12 hours, 4 minutes, for transport planes, the old record held by himself being 13 hours, 2 minutes.

The plane left Burbank, California at 5:42 a.m. P.S.T., touched at Kansas City at 2:36 p.m. C.S.T., and took off after a twelve-minute refueling stop. At the controls when the ship landed here was Si Morehouse, veteran pilot. Besides Rickenbacker it carried five other persons, including Charles France, a reserve pilot, and E. H. Parker, chief pilot of the Eastern Air Transport Company, owners of the plane.

ONLY ONE STOP
On his last record-breaking flight, February 19, the plane in which Rickenbacker rode carried twelve passengers and made stops at Albuquerque, N.M., Kansas City and Columbus, Ohio. The Kansas City stop was the only one made today.

Between Burbank and Kansas City Rickenbacker flew sometimes at a height of 18,000 feet. Between the Mid-Western city and Newark airport he attained a height of 14,000 feet and was aided by a tail wind.

The total distance covered, air line officials said, was 2,609 miles. The plane has a top speed of 230 miles an hour.

The trans-continental record for speed planes is 10 hours, 2 minutes, and is held by Col. Roscoe Turner.

PLANE IN CRASH AT PORT ANGELES

Strikes Piling on Taking Off and Plunges Into Water—Pilot Rescued

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Nov. 8 (AP).—A red monoplane, owned by Leonard Peterson, Inc., of Seattle, and flown by C. F. Fisher and a blonde girl pilot who refused to give her name, cracked up and fell into the bay here, tonight. The coast-guard cutter Chelan rescued the two.

Spectators said that the girl, about eighteen, brought the ship here from Boeing Field, and Fisher was at the controls when it left the airport here, the tail skid striking a piling so that the plane ploughed into several feet of water in the bay. The quartermaster of the Chelan turned on a searchlight, and the crew made the rescue. The plane was considerably damaged.

Fisher said that he was a member of the crew of the vessel Vega, now in Seattle Harbor.

NOW SHAPING UP POLICIES

Democrats Control Four-Fifths of Major Electoral Offices in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP).—The emphatic strokes with which the United States electorate nailed the New Deal flag to the Washington mainmast, on Tuesday, echoed today in White House talks designed to mold into permanence some of the policies it represents.

A Democratic victory so tumultuous as to give them, roughly, four-fifths of the major electoral offices in the country, late today left the standing:

House—Democrats, 321; Republicans, 103; Farmer Labor, 3; Progressives, 7; undecided, 1.

Senate—Democrats, 69; Republicans, 24; Farmer Labor, 1; Progressives, 1; undecided, 1.

Governors—Democrats, 38; Republicans, 8; Farmer Labor, 1; Progressives, 1.

POPULAR VOTE

Out of a popular vote of 28,400,000, the Democrats had 15,380,000. Eliminating the votes that went for the minor parties, the Democrats had better than a 3,000,000 vote edge over the Republicans.

Thirty of the forty-eight states gave the Democrats practically complete command of all major elective offices—Senate, House and

JAPAN IS FIRM IN HER DEMAND

Unwilling to Accept Informal Proposals for Compromise on Naval Ratios

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—Japan, tonight, stood as firm as ever on her demand for equality on the high seas.

Japanese delegates, here for tri-power naval conversations, have decided tentatively not to accept informal British proposals intended to break the existing deadlock, even though these proposals went far toward embodying Tokyo's scheme for new methods of limiting navies. It was learned authoritatively. A formal reply may be delayed until next week, however, and it was indicated that the refusal would be so worded as to let the conversations continue.

The British proposals, presented when the two delegations met yesterday, were briefly as follows:

1. The principle of Japan's right to equality would be recognized, but Nippon would promise not to exercise that right.

2. Japan's plan for limiting navies on the total tonnage basis would be adopted, but limitation by categories and by number of ships, as in the Washington and London treaties, would continue.

3. The Japanese demand for reducing or abolishing offensive ships would be toned down.

Gold Moving From France To New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP).—Arrangements were made today for the shipment of $30,000,000 worth of more gold from Europe to New York, bringing the total on the present movement to $50,000,000 or more.

Most of today's transactions were carried out in Paris, although some small consignments of Belgian and Dutch gold were engaged for American destination.

Foreign exchange circles here look for a continued heavy export of gold from France, so long as the political outlook is dark, and for a steady drain of capital to London from the Continent.

To Blaze New Air Trail Over Pacific

A flight across the Pacific to chart the course Pan-American Airways planes will follow when a round-the-world air schedule is tested next Summer, will be undertaken by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. The type of plane being constructed for the trans-ocean service, and Colonel Lindbergh at the controls, are pictured.

Motion for Abolition of Private Manufacture of Armaments Is Defeated

House of Lords in Longest Session in Forty-Seven Years

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP).—Bitter opposition by a handful of Labor peers to the Government's Incitement to Disaffection Bill today gave the House of Lords a twelve-hour sitting, extending until 4:12 a.m. It was believed to be the longest session of the Upper House since the debate on home rule for Ireland in 1887.

The tactics of the small opposition left consideration of the bill by the lords still incomplete at adjournment. At 3 a.m. today, only thirteen out of twenty-four amendments on the paper had been disposed of. A handful of Labor peers was contesting, clause by clause, the contentious bill.

Bankers of Dominion Ready to Co-operate With National Bank

Will Make Best Possible Use of Materials at Hand in Interest of Country at Large, Says President of Association

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 (CP).—Although establishment of a Central Bank of Canada was destined to make a sharp break in the evolution of the Canadian banking system, there need be no fear Canadian bankers would not co-operate with the Bank of Canada, Jackson Dodds, Montreal, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, told the annual general meeting of that organization here today.

HUGE SWINDLE BARED IN PARIS

Several Former High Gov't Officials on Boards of Involved Firms

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP).—An alleged financial swindle, similar to the Stavisky case, involving 21,000,000 francs, was revealed by police tonight.

Charges of abuse of confidence were filed against Charles Levy and his cousin, Joseph Levy, who floated several hundred million francs worth of bonds, through several large banks, for a network of financial institutions on whose boards are several former high Government officials.

Police charged that the Government paid 1,900,000 francs war damages to some of the Levy companies, to be repaid to manufacturers whose plants were damaged by Germans. The manufacturers, it was said, were unable to collect.

Charles Levy was also charged with using company funds to liquidate a personal debt of 6,000,000 francs.

The two men were said to have disappeared.

Do Not Support Censure Motion

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 8 (CP).—By a vote of 36 to 22 the House of Representatives tonight rejected an Opposition motion of censure in connection with the recent report of a Royal Commission which found evidence of maladministration in the department of native affairs. The native minister, Sir Apirana Ngata, has resigned.

Finds Parts Of World's Oldest Bible

VIENNA, Nov. 8 (AP).—The discovery of a pile of dusty manuscripts described as the "world's oldest Bible," was announced today by Hans Gertinger, chief of the manuscript section of the Austrian National Library.

The laboriously-written pages, he said, dated to the second century. The discovery was made in a Cairo bookshop.

The sheets do not include the entire Bible, but the Gospel by St. Matthew and Paul's Epistles are complete, and there were fragments of the Old Testament. In all, 190 sheets were found. Studies here indicated that the oldest Bible previously known dated from the fourth century.

No Inquiry After Fashion of U.S. Senate to Be Permitted

STRICT REGULATION REMEDY FOR EVILS

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—A Labor motion for the abolition of private manufacture and trade in armaments was defeated in the House of Commons tonight. The vote was 279 to 68.

Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, made it clear that the British Government will not permit an inquiry after the fashion of the recent United States Senate committee's investigation into armaments.

Liberal speakers urged such an inquiry today, but Sir John said methods used in the United States "would not commend themselves to British practice." Labor members apparently abandoned demands made several weeks ago for the inquiry.

The debate centered around the Labor resolution demanding abolition of the private manufacture and trade in armaments, and a provision for state production of such armaments "as considered necessary."

BIG LAKE GOES DRY IN FLORIDA

Fish by Thousands Left in Sun to Die When "Bottom Falls Out"

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 8 (AP).—Nature today completed one of her tricks, and Lake Immokalee, which at normal level covers an area of approximately twenty square miles, went dry.

Fish by the thousands were left to die in the sun, while other thousands were captured by hand and with garden rakes in the tiny pools that remained as the lake drained out through a "sink hole."

Owners of plantations bordering the lake saved thousands of bass and bream by lifting them out of the shallow pools with nets and transferring them in tanks to other lakes.

BOTTOM FALLS OUT

The big lake started draining out about three weeks ago. At first the fall of the water was gradual. Ten days ago the water had drained down to what is called the basin—an area as large as ten city blocks. Then it went still lower, and early today the "bottom fell out."

It is no new thing for big lakes in this area to go dry as suddenly as did Lake Immokalee. A few years ago Lake Jackson drained out with a roar, and its bottom was cultivated for one crop year. Later it partly filled up again.

When the lakes refill, curiously enough, the water rises through the same sink holes by which it drained out, and fish of various sizes return with it.

Italian Dramatist Given Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 8 (CP).—Luigi Pirandello, celebrated Italian dramatist, author of "Six Characters in Search of an Author" and other famous plays, was today awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature for 1934.

CROWDS KEPT UNDER CONTROL AS FRENCH MINISTRY CHANGES

Correspondent of Reuter's Is Under Arrest in Madrid

MADRID, Nov. 8 (AP).—The Spanish Government today caused the arrest of Reginald Calvert, the regular Madrid correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor, Reuter's News Agency and The London Daily Telegraph, holding him incommunicado without specifying the charges against him. Sir George Graham, the British ambassador, immediately took steps to determine upon what grounds the newspaperman is being held, but was not immediately successful in his efforts.

Pierre Flandin Succeeds Doumergue and Patches Together Another "Truce" Government—General Petain and Tardieu Missing From Cabinet—Herriot Retains Former Post

Milling Citizens Denounce Parliament in Many Centres

PARIS, Nov. 8.—While crowds in Paris, Nancy and elsewhere cheered "Papa" Gaston Doumergue and cried "Down with Parliament," towering Pierre Etienne Flandin, Doumergue's successor as Premier, late tonight finished the work of patching together another "truce" Government. The six-foot-six Flandin, spurred by the gravest crisis France has known since the bloody riots nine months ago that brought Doumergue to power, needed only ten hours to put together the pieces of the Cabinet wrecked by Edouard Herriot's Radical Socialists.

Swears in France's New Government

ALBERT F. LEBRUN
President of France, last night swore in the new French Government of Premier Pierre Flandin, successor to Gaston Doumergue.

Four Die in Costly Fire At Elevator

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 8 (AP).—Four men burned to death in the $2,000,000 fire that leveled the mammoth Chesapeake & Ohio grain elevator here, late today.

Seven men were in the elevator when the fire started, presumably from a grain dust explosion.

The fire was still burning, tonight, but was under control. Firemen, realizing it was useless to attempt to put out the fire within the elevator, directed their efforts toward preventing the spread of the flames.

Flees but Kills The Baby First

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8 (CP).—A fourteen-month-old baby was killed yesterday by a prowler, who, entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Greer, was startled by the cry of the baby's brother. The baby, Gus, died of a skull fracture. His slayer fled as the father entered the room.

South Africa Given Constitution Thanks To Dramatic Speech

Publisher's Diary Reveals Effect of Campbell-Bannerman's Oratory on Fellow Ministers—Led Lloyd George to Truthful Forecast

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—How David Lloyd George, a year before the Great War broke out, envisaged the possibility of driving the Germans out of South Africa is recounted in further pages of the diary of the late Lord Riddell to be published tomorrow by Country Life.

Lord Riddell, the well-known publisher, also noted that the granting of a constitution to South Africa was the result of a ten-minute speech in the British Cabinet by the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, which moved at least one of the Cabinet members to tears.

RESULTS REMARKABLE

The diary records a talk that Lord Riddell had with Lloyd George, who spoke of Campbell-Bannerman's speech. "The result of C.B.'s policy has been remarkable," Lloyd George said. "It has captured Botha, by its magnanimity just as all great men are impressed when you display confidence in them."

SWINGS TO RIGHT

Flandin's Cabinet swung slightly further to the right than did the Government which it replaced, by the inclusion of Georges Mandel, Minister of Communications, arch-Conservative and right-hand man of the late George Clemenceau. The Rightists tendency was carried a step farther by the exclusion of the former Socialist Minister of Labor, Adrien Marquet, who refused to join the new Government because of Mandel's presence.

Herriot's Radical Socialists gained two posts, bringing the number of their portfolios to eight. Included in the new Cabinet are thirteen deputies, four senators, two military men and one civilian.

TRUCE TO CONTINUE

On leaving Elysee Palace, Flandin said with a great show of confidence that the political truce created by Doumergue would continue.

"The men I have gathered to-

STRIKERS USE QUEER WEAPON

Drive Golf Balls Across River in Bombardment of Jute Mill

LUDLOW, Mass., Nov. 8 (AP).—In the midst of a riot here today, hundreds of golf balls were "fired" in a bombardment by striking workmen.

Unable to attack the Jute twine mill of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates from one side because it fronts on the Chicopee River, strikers improvised shells on the opposite side of the stream and drove the balls across the river at the mill windows.

Order was restored to the strike-torn town tonight by thirty-five state policemen, after severe fighting between police and the workmen. Eight persons were arrested on charges of rioting.

SECOND OUTBREAK

The fighting tonight was the second outbreak of violence of the day. Strikers who were picking the mills jeered workers not on strike as they left the mill at noon and at night, and rioting ensued.

Clashes which followed the end of the day's work in the mill resulted in several arrests. Immediately those arrested were taken to the police station to be booked, the strikers gathered about the building, demanding the release of their fellows.

It was here that the most severe fighting of the day occurred, when police attempted to repulse the crowd with clubs.

Hand-to-hand clashes followed rioting, which continued for an hour in front of the police station.

RHODESIAN GOV'T WINS ELECTIONS

Labor Opposition Given Severe Rebuff and New Reform Party Wiped Out at Polls

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, Nov. 8 (CP via Reuter's).—Prime Minister G. M. Huggins, of Southern Rhodesia, today found his position as head of the new United party consolidated as a result of the general elections. The Labor Opposition received a severe rebuff, while the new Reform party was wiped out.

With one result still doubtful, the United party has secured twenty-four seats and Labor five.

Huggins has led the United party Government of the Empire's smallest self-governing member since September of last year. Southern Rhodesia has only 52,000 whites among its population of 1,200,000. It received self-government in 1923.

Stirring Appeals to Insure Success of Poppy Day Sent Out

Governor-General, Premier Bennett and Minister of Pensions Murray McLaren Remind Citizens of Duty and Opportunity Before Them

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—Poppy Day messages from the Governor-General, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, and Minister of Pensions Murray McLaren were given out here tonight. The text of the message from the Governor-General follows:

"On Sunday next, we will commemorate the sixteenth anniversary of that first day of peace on which the Armistice brought to an end four tragic years of destruction and human slaughter. Throughout the whole of our great Empire, each and every one of its members will stand in reverent silence, and pay homage to those gallant men who gave their lives, without question or fear, for the Empire's preservation."

ONE MORE LINK
"As we pause for those two minutes, and pay united tribute to that glorious sacrifice, there is forged each year yet one more link in the ever-growing chain of comradeship, which binds together the scattered units of our great Community of Nations."

"For it is on the recollection of common sorrows borne and common danger suffered that the truest sympathy is founded."

"But among you, tonight, are many young people, grown men and women whose only experience of the Great War can be that of its disastrous after-effects, from which our whole civilization has not yet recovered. To you, who were not called upon to make the supreme sacrifice which your fathers suffered gladly, I would address one especial word. Never forget that the burden of the work of rebuilding, which will not be completed for many years to come, rests upon your shoulders, too. It is the privilege of each one of you to contribute his or her part, however small or insignificant, to this great reconstruction; and I know that it rests in safe and worthy hands."

On Remembrance Day, we are perhaps, inclined to think only of those who laid down their lives. But there are others, both men and women, whose lot is, perhaps, even harder; they suffer still today; men who returned to their homes bereft of the means to earn their livelihood, maimed or physically broken; women and children left destitute. What more fitting tribute to the fallen can we pay than to help in the care of these, their comrades and dependents?"

Throughout Canada, disabled ex-service men, otherwise hunting for employment, have been working in the manufacture of, Veterans poppies and wreaths, which are now being sold in every city, town and village throughout the Dominion. It is on your generosity in the purchase of these that the Canadian Legion depends for the furtherance of its great work.

A CONFIDENT APPEAL
"It is with the utmost confidence that I ask each one of you tonight to give the fullest possible measure of help to a cause so richly deserving, and so sorely in need of your staunchest support."

Prime Minister Bennett made the following statement:

"I regard it as a high honor and a great privilege to add a few words to those so well spoken by His Excellency the Governor-General on the occasion of another Poppy Day."

Sixteen years ago the Armistice brought to an end a world war such as mankind had never before known. In four years of ceaseless warfare Canada created and maintained a valiant citizen army. Alas, many, all too many, returned no more, and to those we do solemn honor on Remembrance Day. Others there were who, when peace at last was restored to a war-weary world, returned to their homes unable to pursue their normal vocations; men who had given themselves so completely to the cause that they found themselves unfitted for the civil life. To them, as well as to the immortal dead, we owe a debt we cannot repay, a debt which is recalled and made vivid by Poppy Day."

OFFERS OPPORTUNITY
The red Poppies have become a symbol of our fellow-Canadians who fell overseas. But it is a symbol of more. Let us remember that Poppy Day offers us an opportunity, not only to salute the glorious dead with reverence and respect, but to discharge in a small way our obligation to the living. For them the war did not end in 1918, but has continued even until this day."

"Therefore, I would urge all my fellow-Canadians to buy the poppies that are offered for sale on Poppy Day."

"These poppies are provided under the auspices of the Canadian Legion of Ex-Servicemen, and I urge you once again to be generous in your purchases so that this Poppy Day may prove to be a real occasion for remembrance both of the living and the dead."

The message of Minister of Pensions Murray McLaren was as follows:

FAMILIAR WORDS
"At this season, as the time for the observance of Remembrance Day approaches, the familiar words which seem most appropriate come to one's memory."

"Honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, honor the King." "Happy is the country whose people observe these injunctions. They form the basis and true conception of a well-constituted state. When these rules are observed and are an integral part of the national character, there need be no fear as to the future history of our people. "Love the brotherhood." That is the spirit of the British Empire Service League and kindred association—the brotherhood of returned men, and especially those who are disabled and those who are broken in health. As time passes, the interest one takes in returned men does not lead to indifference; on the contrary, it leads to a better understanding and to keener appreciation of their needs. It proves helpful in rendering true service to returned men and to the country."

EVERYONE'S OPPORTUNITY
"Poppy Day affords everyone an opportunity to participate in forwarding this most worthy object. There are many other means at our disposal—so many things of a helpful character that may be done—a cheerful word, good will, a kindly act, a sympathetic attitude. All of which arise from understanding."

At this season of coming anniversaries and at the end of another year—as Minister of Pensions and National Health, may I take the opportunity of saying to the brotherhood of returned men—"fare ye well, valets et benedicite."

TEEMING WILD LIFE DESCRIBED

Frank Pullen Repeats Lecture on Big Game Hunting in East Africa

While encroaching civilization threatens the preservation of game in East Africa, at present the most densely populated area in the world is teeming with wild animal life, an estimated 1,000,000 head of game was seen by Frank Pullen and his companions during an extensive motor trip last year. Mr. Pullen, lecturer at the Crystal Garden theatre repeated, on behalf of the Victoria Order of Nurses fund, the fascinating lantern lecture he gave here about a week ago, and again held his audience enthralled with the story of the teeming wild life in this hunter's paradise.

Originally planned as a big-game hunting expedition, a camera, added as an afterthought, provided more sport than the guns, and Mr. Pullen said that he went again it would be in the role of photographer only. The pictures gave a detailed account of the outfitting of the expedition as well as its actual experiences five or six hundred miles back from the last outpost of civilization in Tanganyika Territory.

NO HAIRBREADTH ESCAPES
While abundant thrills were experienced, several of which were explained in pictures showing the camera man, Mr. Pullen apologized for the absence of the recital of hairbreadth escapes from his narrative.

"To get these you must go to the professional movies," he told his audience, adding that they had never had to fire on an animal that they photographed, and that while big game was so abundant there was no more risk attached to its proximity, provided one took reasonable precautions, than one experienced momentarily in the streets of any big city."

MOTION ON ARMS MANUFACTURE LOST

CRITICIZES SYSTEM
The high point of the debate was reached when Sir John rapped the United States system, which allowed the King's name to be linked to the arms traffic "as though in evidence."

He was cheered as he mentioned a telegram produced during the Washington, "which was read as though it were evidence, asserting no less a person than His Majesty the King had sent for the Polish ambassador and impressed upon him the importance of purchasing whatever he wanted from a British firm."

"Of course, that is perfectly and entirely ridiculous," Sir John said. "All of us, to whatever party we belong, know His Majesty to be perfectly incapable of having any connection with this silly story."

SURPRISING ALLEGATIONS
Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal, declared: "The reports of the American inquiry were full of surprising allegations against British firms, which certainly were not proved, but certainly ought to be proved."

Sir John also warned of the "immense cost involved in the training and maintenance of staffs required for designing and building state armaments."

He said the Government believed the remedy "lay in an international treaty negotiated at Geneva, and signed and observed by all states for strict regulation and control, rather than a state monopoly."

DENOUNCED EVILS
Declaring he "joined in denouncing certain evils" involved, Sir John questioned the possibility of finding "a complete cure."

He stressed that private firms, which "could not be maintained without foreign orders" during peace times, were able to switch over quickly to maximum production during war times.

"It is the need for unlimited expansion in time of war," said the Foreign Secretary, "which makes the conception of a Government monopoly so difficult to apply."

It was part of the Labor proposal the Government take over the production of only "necessary armaments."

Sir John said such a programme would hurt employment in many sections of England.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 (CP).—Bankers and businessmen, like the laborer, are worthy of their hire. Aldermen said today they would inquire at the next council meeting if the disbanded advisory finance committee selected by Mayor Camille Houde to steer the city out of its financial troubles have been paid for their four months' work. They were $1-a-year men, and are entitled to thirty-three cents each.

NEED PRAYERS SAYS SPEAKER

Rev. Michael Billester Gives Stirring Address to Shantyman's Association

Without prayer, religion cannot exist. V. Michael Billester, of the Russian Mission Society, told a large gathering at the annual meeting and fellowship supper of the Shantyman's Christian Association, last night, at the Y.M.C.A. In a stirring address, Mr. Billester urged upon the association members to make prayer a vital part of their everyday lives, declaring that it was the very essence of religion. Today, prayer is the lost art of wisdom, the speaker asserted, and yet, only through it alone can Christians communicate with God. "The man who will not pray, either in private or public, has no more religion than a dead horse," Mr. Billester declared.

TURNING TO JESUS

More and more people are turning to Jesus Christ, according to information received from many parts of the world, the speaker said. Jewish people are commencing to ask questions about the Son of Nazareth, and even the Rabbi of New York, turning his thoughts on Jesus Christ, wrote a book recently in which he spoke of Him as the finest and greatest personality ever to inhabit this earth, Mr. Billester stated.

Percy Wills, Island missionary of the Shantyman's Association, gave an interesting survey of his work, and told of the great progress and humanitarian work being done.

BUILDING BOAT

By next Spring the association will have its own thirty-five-foot power boat to assist Mr. Wills in the work of visiting Coast points. Reginald Huddleston, New Westminster boatbuilder, told the gathering. The boat free of charge for the material, which is supplying the material.

Ronald Hodgson, with a story and pictures of an adventure on the Forbidden Plateau, addressed the meeting. Annual reports were submitted by L. J. Bekman, treasurer, and Ernest Wilderspin, literary secretary. The financial statement showed a substantial balance on hand.

BANKERS OF CANADA WILL CO-OPERATE

to have a Bank of Canada set up, to be a bankers' bank. Bankers are realistic; they are ready to make the best possible use of the materials at their hand, and, when the central bank is established, the bankers of Canada will co-operate with it in the interests of the country at large."

COSTLY EXPERIMENTS

It was to the credit of Premier R. B. Bennett and his colleagues, that, although Canada is separated by an imaginary line only from a country where such unusual projects are undertaken and experiments made entailing lavish expenditure to execute, "the Government of Canada was not influenced by such example but adhered to the policies and functions of Government heretofore obtaining in this country."

"Notwithstanding this we are still a long way from that 'consummation devoutly to be wished—A balanced budget."

This was not said in any cautious spirit. The difficulties were great, but a resolute determination to balance the Canadian budget would do much, he thought, to quicken business activity and enhance the public credit of the country.

SUGGESTS CHARTERS

Suggestion was made by Mr. Dods that at the next revision of the Bank Act, the banks be given charters without special limitation as to duration, on the same basis as bank charters are now held in Great Britain, France and the United States. To this would have to be added, however, a "provision in the legislation explicitly requiring that Parliament shall review the provisions of the act at the end of each ten years for the purpose of such amendments as experience and new conditions might seem to require."

Mr. Dods urged that recommendations to the Government by the Royal Commission in regard to the yearly deficits of the Canadian National Railways be implemented, and concluded by pointing to the financial situation in Great Britain as of April 17—a surplus of $29,000,000—as evidence that deficits could be overcome.

IS ELEVATED ON BOARD OF P.G.E.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—Chris Spence, of Vancouver, today was elected vice-president of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, at a directors' meeting here, succeeding the late W. J. Blake Wilson, who died earlier in the year.

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, read a letter from Premier T. D. Pattullo, president of the Railway Board, suggesting that Mr. Spence be appointed to the vice-presidency.

"For many years he has given of his time and attention, without emolument, for the benefit of the public service," Mr. Pattullo said, in suggesting the appointment. He also paid tribute to the service rendered by the late Mr. Wilson.

CONSTITUTION GIVEN THANKS TO SPEECH

GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENT
Lord Riddell asked Lloyd George whether Campbell-Bannerman, Prime Minister from 1905 to 1908, or the late Lord Asquith, who succeeded him in the premiership, was responsible for the granting of the constitution to South Africa, which resulted in the union three years later, in 1910.

Lord Riddell considered that the constitution given the Transvaal and Orange River colonies was one of the biggest things accomplished in many years. "Oh," replied Lloyd George, "C-B. It was all done in a ten-minute speech at a Cabinet; the most dramatic and most important speech delivered in our time. In ten minutes, he brushed aside all the checks and safeguards devised by Asquith, Winston Churchill, and Lord Loreburn (Lord Loreburn, Lord Chancellor)."

CONVINCED THEM ALL

"At the outset, only two of us were with him—John Burns and myself. But the speech convinced the whole Cabinet. It was the utterance of a plain, simple and kindly man, and it moved at least one of the Cabinet to tears."

WILL MARK ARMISTICE

Special Services to Be Conducted on Sunday at Christ Church Cathedral

Christ Church Cathedral will be the scene of a special, civic Remembrance Day service, on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, it was announced last night by Major F. V. Longstaff, vestry clerk. Representatives of several local churches will take part.

The service, an annual ceremony, is sponsored by Very Rev. Cecil S. Quantin, Dean of Columbia, and the Cathedral wardens. They invite each ex-service man to bring his family and sit together wherever they please. Seats will not be reserved for veterans in a body.

Rev. E. Church, pastor of Metropolitan United Church, will offer the address. He will speak on "Held by a Wounded Hand." Prayers will be said by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, pastor of Centennial United Church, while Rev. G. A. Reynolds, pastor of First Baptist Church, will read the Scripture lesson. Blessing will be invoked by Dean Quantin.

MUSIC FOR SERVICE

The hymns for the service will be "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," "Lord of Heaven and Earth," and "O Valiant Hearts." Music will be supplied by the Britannia Branch Band, directed by Bandmaster Charles A. Raine. A. B. Richard L. Bodger, of H.M.C.S. Vancouver, will sound "Reveille" and "The Last Post."

A colorful spectacle will be witnessed as the Rainbow Sea Cadets, the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and seven ex-service organizations parade with their colors. The front of the church will be reserved for 100 Sea Cadets, 200 Boy Scouts and 100 Girl Guides.

Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by his aides, will be present. Premier T. D. Pattullo and members of the Cabinet, Mayor David Leeming, members of the city aldermanic and school boards, representatives of the navy, army and air forces, service club members, and other patriotic organizations will also be in attendance, as well as the general public.

Governorship. Eighteen states turned over all these offices to the Democrats. In twelve others, the Republicans managed to hold only one, or at the most two, of these offices against the New Deal buffeting.

IS SHAPING PLANS

Backed by this demonstration of popularity, President Roosevelt today went immediately at the work of shaping into lasting figures those portions of his plan which hitherto have been but rough designs in plastic mud.

In his first efforts, he turned to social legislation—his avowed attempt to make the United States a better place for the average American, to see that no person shall starve. He talked with newly-elected Progressive Senator Robert La Follette, of Wisconsin, over a luncheon table. They talked as the head of one party to that of another.

Bishop of Victoria Is En Route to His Diocese

Most Rev. John Hugh MacDonald Noted for Erudition and Characteristics of Leadership—Has Held Posts at St. Francis Xavier University

Most Rev. John Hugh MacDonald, O'Donnell, of Halifax, preached the consecration sermon. Representing the diocese of Victoria were Rev. Alexander McLellan, of Ladysmith, and Rev. Carl T. Albury, of St. Andrew's Cathedral in this city.

Bishop MacDonald is a native of Maryvale, Antigonish County, N.S. He was born on April 3, 1881, and was the eldest of a family of five. He received his elementary education in the public school at Maryvale.

At the age of eighteen years, he registered as a student in arts at St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish. He was active in many educational departments, and served as business manager and subsequently on the editorial staff of the college magazine, "Excelsior." He debated, He played football. He was strong in track and field sports.

From the very beginning of his university term, Bishop MacDonald showed those characteristics which later made him a leader of men. When only a freshman, he was given posts of authority by the faculty, and in his junior year was made prefect of the freshman study, a post seldom given to a junior.

FINE ORATOR
He was a fluent speaker, and a valuable member of the debating teams. His leadership, combined with logical reasoning and fluency of speech, stamped him for the calling that he later chose.

In October of 1903, he went to Italy, to enter upon the study of theology in the Propaganda College of Rome. Ill health, however, compelled Bishop MacDonald to return home before he had completed his course. At home he persevered in his chosen career. He joined the staff of St. Francis Xavier University, following his theological studies assiduously.

On December 21, 1906, he was ordained in Antigonish by the late Bishop Cameron. His first Mass was said on December 22, and on Christmas morning he sang High Mass and preached a stirring sermon on the Nativity. In token of their esteem, the parishioners presented the young priest with an address of felicitation and a purse of gold. Again on New Year's Day, he celebrated High Mass and preached.

ERUDITE PRIEST
With the reopening of the university, he returned to Antigonish to take over his duties as associate professor of Latin and English. In the years that followed, Bishop MacDonald assumed greater responsibilities in his alma mater, until in 1910 he was librarian, vice-rector, prefect of discipline, professor of Italian and associate professor of English and history.

In the fall of 1911, Bishop MacDonald severed his connection with St. Francis Xavier University and went to Glace Bay as curate. There he remained three years, until in October, 1914, he was made pastor of St. Anne's parish, New Waterford, a charge which he administered with sagacity for a decade of years. Following the death of Rev. Father D. M. Macadam, in the fall of 1924, Bishop MacDonald was named parish priest of Sacred Heart Church, Sydney, where he remained until now, when the Holy See, recognizing his fitness for further advancement, raised him to the purple.

Bishop MacDonald's parents and one of his brothers are dead. The survivors of the family are: Mary K. (Mrs. Ronald Smith), of Big Marsh; Agnes (Mrs. Andrew MacDonald), of Leno, and Ronald A. MacDonald, of Maryvale.

CROWDS IN FRANCE UNDER CONTROL

gether will forget party differences for one end — to fight against misery and unemployment," the new Premier said.

Among the hold-overs was Herriot, who became Minister of State without portfolio after the youthful Flaminio to drop the points of Doumergue's programme that brought his downfall.

The new Premier, however, lost Marshal Henri Poincaré, Doumergue's Minister of War, who gave the new ministry his blessing, and Andrew Tardieu, Vice-Premier and minister without portfolio in the preceding Government, whose unfitness toward Flaminio caused him to refuse to join the Government.

Also among the holdovers was Pierre Laval, who was offered the Premiership earlier today but refused because he considered his work as Foreign Minister too important.

Despite the tenseness felt everywhere in Paris, Doumergue's fall brought no serious disorders.

Some fifty persons were arrested when thousands massed in front of the opera to storm police lines, shouting "Down with the Deputies," but mobile guards restored order.

In maintaining the political truce into which the bloody Stavisky riots had plunged, Flaminio nevertheless yielded to the Radical Socialists on the programme for which Doumergue went down fighting—the revision of France's fifty-nine-year-old constitution so as to give the Premier more, and Parliament less, power.

He agreed to reform the constitution if that was "desired" by Parliament, but displayed no enthusiasm for the changes, which many Deputies prefer to accomplish by law.

INCREASES BITTERNESS
The parting shots Doumergue fired at Herriot increased political bitterness and augmented fears that rioting might follow the true Government's overthrow.

While most political leaders expressed the greatest anxiety over Doumergue's departure, many members of Parliament said privately he had not entirely failed. In his defence, friends pointed out that when he came to power from retirement February 18, he found exactly 1,000,000 francs in the treasury and 700,000,000 to be paid that night. He arranged to borrow 800,000,000 francs from bankers within a few hours and saved the Government's credit.

In contrast, his friends argued, is the present state of the French treasury: 2,800,000,000 francs in cash on hand and bonds in the amount of several billion francs refunded. The post of Premier was offered first to Fernand Emile Bouisson, president of the Chamber of Deputies, in accordance with tradition, but he declined. Laval pleaded the importance of his work as Foreign Minister as his excuse for refusing the portfolio, which was taken to mean he would remain in the Foreign Office in the Landin Government.

LIST OF MEMBERS
The membership of the new French Cabinet is as follows: Etienne Flaminio, Premier, without portfolio.

Edouard Herriot, Minister of State without portfolio.
Louis Marin, Minister of State without portfolio.
Pierre Laval, Foreign Affairs.

Deputy Georges Mandel, Communications.

Senator Emile Cassez, Agriculture.

IS ABLE MAN

Pierre Etienne Flaminio, the forty-five-year-old politician who has agreed to become Premier of France, is an aviator, a financial expert, a diplomat, and a Conservative. He is a member of the Left Republican Party, which holds a position at the centre in French politics.

Flaminio, who was elected to the delegation to the Cartier celebrations in Canada as the Government representative. At that time he was serving in the Doumergue Government as Minister of Public Works.

His command of the English language is regarded as one of the reasons for his rise to power. Before serving in the Doumergue Cabinet, he was Minister of Finance three separate times and three times was Minister of Commerce.

CHIEF NEGOTIATOR

Frequently he had done the talking when negotiations have been carried on between France and Great Britain or the United States.

Flaminio is an expert in aviation. He was mobilized during the war in the aviation service and pilots his own machine to this day. He has been a member of many important aviation commissions.

A lawyer by profession, he entered Parliament at the age of twenty-five years. He has the distinction of being among the Parisian-born politicians who have risen to Cabinet positions. France is guided chiefly by men from the provinces. Even Flaminio's former seat in the Chamber came from the department of the Yonne, and not from Paris. He found a group of country folk who were willing to elect him.

PLANS TO COMPLETE CIRCUIT OF WORLD

On his newest venture, Kingsford-Smith will back-track his previous round-the-world flight. First, he will proceed to New York, then across the Atlantic to London, and on to Australia.

Meanwhile, Catton's suit will be brought to an early trial, so that the aviator will not have to tarry here long.

Kingsford-Smith today boarded the exploration cruiser Veleo III, owned by Capt. G. Allan Hancock, wealthy oil man and explorer, who financed the 1928 flight in the Southern Cross.

The aviator said he planned to rest aboard the cruiser for several days.

INCORRECTLY QUOTED

Sir Charles said today he had been incorrectly quoted as saying he could not sell his plane in Australia because it was considered "unairworthy."

A statement issued by the manufacturers here of the ship said: "The misunderstanding arose over the statement that Sir Charles had been unable to use the plane in commercial aviation in Australia. Because of the plane's excessive gasoline capacity, it can be used only in experimental long-distance or speed flying."

Two Killed When Train Hits Car

MISSION CITY, B.C., Nov. 8 (CP).—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Darough, of Chilliwack, B.C., are dead here, from injuries suffered late Tuesday, when their automobile was in collision with a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train at Dewdney.

The car was totally wrecked and Mr. and Mrs. Darough suffered fractured skulls. The husband died in the hospital here last night, and Mrs. Darough died today without regaining consciousness.

GIVES ANSWER TO CRITICISM

Earl Jellicoe Replies to Lloyd George on Admiralty Actions

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—Earl Jellicoe, in a book published today under the title of "The Submarine Peril and Admiralty Policy, 1917," replies to criticisms of David Lloyd George of the alleged slowness of the Admiralty in adopting the convoy system to guard against submarine attacks.

Lloyd George spoke of "the stunned pessimism of the Admiralty, the fear-dimmed eyes of our admirals, and the atmosphere there of crouching nervousness." Jellicoe's sentences are less pungent, though he contrives occasionally to introduce a tart thrust.

DEPENDENT ON FLEET

"One of my difficulties in 1917," says the former commander of the British Fleet, "was to make the Prime Minister realize the fact the whole Allied cause was dependent on the Grand Fleet."

"It is true that Lloyd George did make one or two suggestions to me for dealing with the submarine menace, but these were of such a nature they could not have emanated from the brain of any naval officer."

STRANGE SUGGESTION

"They were not, however, so strange as the one sent me by a gentleman, who said the obvious solution was to fill the North Sea with En's Fruit Salt, which would force the submarines to the surface."

Lloyd George seemed obsessed with the idea the opinions of junior officers were of more value than those of the seniors, Jellicoe asserts.

FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Four-Day Murder Trial Ends at Vernon—Jury Recommends Mercy

VERNON, B.C., Nov. 8 (CP).—A verdict of guilty of manslaughter, with a strong recommendation for mercy, was returned by an Assize Court jury tonight, bringing to an end the four-day murder trial of Mrs. Grietje Sundquist, of Greenwood, B.C. Mrs. Sundquist was charged with having performed an illegal operation on Veronica Kuva, eighteen-year-old Grand Forks girl, which resulted in the girl's death last month.

The jury retired at 4:20 p.m. The verdict was returned four hours later.

Immediately after the jury had retired, Carl Schwarzenhauer, former Grand Forks baker, alleged to have advised Mrs. Sundquist to perform the operation, went on trial on a similar murder charge. His case was adjourned until tomorrow, after brief evidence had been given.

W. C. Kelley, Crown prosecutor, in reviewing the charge against Mrs. Sundquist, indicated that he was pressing for a manslaughter conviction, rather than one on the murder charge as laid.

NO INTENT TO KILL

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, in his charge to the jury, indicated that quite apparently there had been no intent to kill, in the event that the woman had actually performed the operation in question, and he asked that this point be borne in mind.

His Lordship commended Constable J. W. Hooker, of the Grand Forks Provincial Police detachment, for the way in which he had carried out his duties in connection with the case.

Mrs. Sundquist, in giving evidence earlier in the day, denied that she had performed the operation.

Until the close of the eighteenth century, all nails were hand-made.

OPPOSING ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY

The attempts among certain interests in the United States to revive the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty will probably be intensified as a result of the American elections. One argument put forward by the American proponents of the scheme is that the potential savings to consumers of power in the nine northeastern states would be $200,000,000. A committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce has taken issue with this statement, pointing out that the claim is absurd, inasmuch as the total gross revenue from power consumers in the nine states affected was under $630,000,000 in 1933. Moreover, the New York Chamber of Commerce, which has always been opposed to the scheme, says the project would be a further encroachment by the Government upon private business.

How much at sea experts are in estimating the cost of the St. Lawrence project is shown by figures quoted varying from $543,000,000 to $1,350,000,000. The waterway and the power development proposed would, according to the New York Chamber of Commerce, "compete with established private enterprises; and the power plant in the effort to attract industries to its vicinity would be in competition with the six other Government plants now under construction." The possible power output of the St. Lawrence is set at 12,500,000 kilowatt hours, and one-half of this would belong to New York. This volume would be over one-half the total energy generated in the state of New York in 1929. Thus to utilize the proposed increase would mean a rapidly improving market, and there is no reason to suppose that existing industries would expand because of Government competition, or the fear of it. It is wholly unlikely that the State credit of New York will be lent to the St. Lawrence project. With such opposition as this forthcoming to the seaway project it is comforting to think that the matter is practically dead, even as a political issue in Canada.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S EXAMPLE

Newfoundland, under the commission form of Government, finds itself in one year able to reduce customs taxation by $650,000. This is the result of administration which is not affected by party politics. The Commission which controls affairs is absolutely impartial; it conducts government in an economic way. Because of the spendthrift zeal of the old Government in Newfoundland the country was facing bankruptcy. A decision was reached to establish for a period a commission form of Government, and this was done. Since then the Commission has been operating on a business basis, and as a result finds the position so improved that taxes can be reduced and living conditions for the people made less burdensome.

The Commission administering Newfoundland is not subject to clamors for public expenditures on the part of interested sections of the people. It has neither the desire nor the occasion to show partisanship. It has not to solicit votes. It has not to balance one section of thought in the country against another. It has a single goal, namely, an improvement of the financial and economic condition of the country, and it is upon this task that all its energies are bent. Newfoundland has been a gainer and will continue to gain. The lesson inculcated should be absorbed when the elective system is reverted to in that country.

INTELLIGENCE TEST

The Carnegie Foundation has been conducting a series of intelligence tests to determine if American youths learn anything at their universities. The conclusions reached are that there is a leakage somewhere, and learning does not last; that time is on the side of ignorance and that, left to themselves, heads become empty. The answer to what it was sought to solve by the intelligence tests is that American youths do not learn anything at their universities, that they do not know more at the end than at the beginning of a university career. That is a strong and sweeping indictment, based on intelligence tests through a questionnaire. The questions were divided into groups. They covered such subjects as a well-educated, intelligent man might be expected to know something about. The result has, it seems, been wholly disappointing.

Scribner's Magazine has been discussing the findings of the Carnegie Foundation. It says that these afford proof, in college after college, that four years of highly-organized and expensive instruction leaves no particular mark, that while in subject after subject there is no marked retrogression, there is equally no substantial gain. One of the most disappointing things of all discovered was that while everyone did badly, those who did worst were the graduates destined for the teaching profession. The London Times offers some excuse for the disastrous findings of the Carnegie Foundation, even if it is offered in a spirit of levity. It says:

"But cultivated men like the examiners should have recalled that, after all, the tests were but supporting Wordsworth's remark about trailing clouds of glory, with corroboration of the view that sleeping and forgetting not only characterize our birth, but take root as a habit. The truth has been bravely faced that young Americans do not care to drink the Perian spring even from marble troughs, that they rush through their courses and collect their credits and remember and bother no more about any of it. Their champions have come forward to say that these tests, while no doubt efficient and successful in gauging mere examination knowledge which fades, do not succeed in measuring moral character or radiant fitness or highly developed social gifts, all of which may be earned or exercised at college. There is, the examiners admit, truth and comfort in such a view; but it is not a complete consolation, because universities are supposed to be places where polite learning is acquired. The failure of one particular student who, by simple association, defined the word 'assiduous' as meaning foolish is perhaps symptomatic of a general contempt for bookishness which may derive fresh strength from this new demonstration that the acquisitions so painfully made by reading and writing do not last but need constant repairs. The Know Nothings may soon reappear as an aggressive force in American public life in defence of the ignorance which is not only bliss, but cheap bliss compared with the learning which, after so much organization and turmoil, is hardly distinguishable from it in the end."

PLACE NAMES

There are few things much more interesting, suggestive, and romantic than a map, for the obvious reason that geography and history go together. The place names of Canada, generally speaking, have been happily chosen. Some of them commemorate the early discoverers and explorers, and we have Cartier, La Verandrye, Fraser, Thompson, Simpson, and a host of others. Some repeat the ancient and colorful names of princes, soldiers, and statesmen of the Old Land, and we have Rupert, York, Churchill, Peel, Chatham among the rest. Some recall Old Country lakes, rivers, and towns, such as Windermere, Killarney, Thames, Trent, London, New Edinburgh, New Glasgow, Halifax. Some of our best place names are of Indian origin: Assiniboine, Pontiac, Saskatchewan, Ottawa, Toronto, and the like. Occasionally there are descriptive names which have been well chosen. A few have been selected for sentimental reasons, and some are presumably even facetious.

In the matter of identifying their towns and villages the Americans have sometimes gone out of their way to discover odd names. An extensive list of these has lately been collected. It appears that there is a place called Klunkie in Ohio. Sopchoppy is located in Florida. Nevada enjoys the distinction of having within its borders the town or village of Fahrump. New Jersey created and named Squankum. Hetch Hetchy is in California. Choptank in Maryland, Soso in Mississippi, and Ox, which reminds us of Anyox, is in Ohio.

There is a notable and native quality and dignity in most of our unusual place names. Among these may be mentioned Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, Portage la Prairie, The Pas, Red Deer, Vermilion, Rat Portage. Other names are not so fortunate and as long as there remain on our maps such lamentable combinations as Pugwash, Bobcagegon, Whycocomagh, Cobocook, and Tatumagouche we had better not point the finger of scorn in any direction.

One reason why crime persists in the United States is disclosed in criminal statistics. In 1933 there were 12,123 murders committed in the country, but fewer than 4,000 persons were sentenced as homicides and only 153 were executed. The record of murders in 1933 is the highest in the country's history. In the last ten years it has risen by more than 4,000. For every one murderer brought to the electric chair, seventy-nine escape the penalty of death. The consequence is that crime continues to expand.

St. Herbert Samuel, Great Britain's Liberal leader, says that "hard economic facts will not obey the orders of politicians." That is exactly what politicians have been finding out as an ever accelerated pace during recent years.

A GIRL'S SONG

There's a bower of roses by Bendor's stream,
And the nightingale sings round it all the day long;
In the time of my childhood 'twas like a sweet dream
To sit in the roses and hear the bird's song.

That bower and its music I never forget,
But when alone in the bloom of the year,
I think—the nightingale singing there yet?
Are the roses still bright by the calm Bendor?

No, the roses soon withered that hung o'er the wave,
But some blossoms were gathered, while freshly they shone,
And a dew was distilled from their flowers, that gave
All the fragrance of Summer when Summer was gone.

Thus memory draws from delight, ere it dies,
An essence that breathes of it many a year;
Thus bright to my soul, as 'twas then to my eyes,
Is that bower on the banks of the calm Bendor!

—Tom Moore.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

To improve the moment of golden opportunity, and catch the good that is within our reach, is the great art of life.—John.

If it is true that elections have a disturbing effect upon business, the converse must be true that the finish of elections must have a settling and possibly a stimulating effect upon business. In the United States, where the people are all politicians, and regard elections so seriously that during political campaigns they shoot at some of their opponents for the purpose of demonstrating the depth of their political principles, the papers always say business will be better after the election. The United States elections are over for another couple of years, the policies of the President have been effectively vindicated and handsomely endorsed, and the people of Canada hope the people of the United States will settle down and attend diligently to the job of setting the business of the country in order.

There is no doubt whatever that the result of the elections was a great personal triumph for Mr. Roosevelt. Whatever the actual results of the New Deal—and there is some doubt as to those results—the people have not lost confidence in their President. The forces of the Republican Party have been nearly annihilated and the administration will have the support of majorities of the representative in both Houses of Congress. The dictatorial powers of the President have been endorsed and enlarged, and any measures he may propose will be supported by both branches of Congress. The representatives of the people can hardly fail to do what the people have done, follow the lead of the President.

The result of the United States election is almost as revolutionary as the result of the election in Great Britain which swept a National government into power. If the members of the Roosevelt government are all of one mind, and the Secretary of State has expressed the views of his leader and all his colleagues, there must be a revolution in the policies of the government of the United States.

speech a few days ago that national trade recovery depended upon international trade recovery, and that international trade recovery was impossible as long as high tariffs imposed an insurmountable barrier to world trade recovery. The Secretary of State went even farther than that. He declared that in the matter of extreme protection the United States had been the worst sinner, but had repented and had taken its seat upon the penitent bench.

The statement will be endorsed by the statesmen of all the nations. But if the confession is based upon motives of sincerity and the repentance genuine, not an expression of emotional rhetoric, the United States should demonstrate that it really has repented and is disposed to "bring forth fruits meet for repentance." The first message of the President to the new Congress should demand an immediate assault upon the tariff walls for the purpose of restoring international trade and commerce to the position it occupied before the adoption of the notorious Smoot-Hawley measure. If that were done, it would be evidence of good faith, and it would be of special interest to Canadians.

But it is not likely the President will go as far as that. The probability is that the measures he has in mind will suggest reciprocal trade treaties under which concessions will be offered for corresponding concessions. We are quite sure there will be no immediate abandonment of the principles of protection. The people of the United States have been too long nurtured upon the benefits of protection for national industries to become absolute free traders overnight whatever the results of the election.

Readers of the newspapers will have noticed that of late influential trade bodies in both the United States and Canada have been passing resolutions favoring more liberal trade relations between the two nations. There is a suspicion that those resolutions were inspired by certain political factions in both countries. The President has been silent on the subject, but he has indicated in one of his first utterances since the election that he is interested in the promotion of good and cordial feelings with the people of Canada and has expressed a conviction that the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway as an international highway of commerce is practical and necessary and will be accomplished "as sure as God made little apples."

Next to complete trade recovery in their own country Canadians are interested in complete trade recovery in the United States, for the relations between the two nations are in many ways so intimate that anything that is beneficial to one is beneficial to the other.

country is beneficial to the other country. If the trade of Canada with the United States and the trade of the United States with Canada were restored to the position it held only a few years ago, the benefits would be reciprocal and the cordiality of personal relations cemented. Some of the commercial bodies, if they are at all interested in the subject, should pass the idea on to the President.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS

Sir,—In reading the announcement of my candidature for the aldermanic board in today's Colonist and written by one of the best-intentioned reporters, I fear many might be confused as to whether I may be introducing party politics or not. May I here emphatically state, party politics do not enter into civic elections.

To all voters in this forthcoming election, I promise if you elect me as alderman on December 13 (lucky day)—you can depend upon my giving non-partisan consideration in trying to solve your civic problems, doing so without fear or favor, irrespective of what politics you might be in either Provincial or Federal Governments.

BRIGHTEN VICTORIA

Sir,—Allow me, through the medium of your valuable paper, to offer my sincere congratulations to your correspondent, Tooley Fish, for his letter with regards to the poor lighting that prevails in our city. It is about time something was done to improve matters in that respect. Take, for instance, the standard lamps. They seem to be out most of the time. I am surprised that there are not more accidents than there are, when we have to get around in almost total darkness. Wake up city fathers and light up.

ANCIENT BRITAIN

Sir,—I see that someone else has already commented on Dr. Clem Davies' wild statement about ancient Britain. According to Bishop Ussher's Bible dates, Joseph was just settling his brothers in Egypt about 1700 B.C. and we are told that at the same time these same people had established themselves in large numbers in Britain.

It is a pity that so many people believe in these curious ideas about our racial origin. A great deal is known and a great deal is considered probable. A little serious reading might correct some of these theories. I would advise reading Ripley's "Races of Europe," Holmes' "Ancient Britain and Julius Caesar," and the first volume of Professor Oman's "History of England." None of these people even hints at any Hebrew racial origin. As a matter of fact, all the Western nations are of very mixed origins, but the different elements are in different proportions in the different nations—Iberian, Nordic and Celtic. More Nordic in the North, more Iberian in the South, and the intrusive Celtic breaking in from the East. In fact, in spite of the present extreme nationalism, we have our cousins in other nations, and cannot claim any distinct pure racial origin.

K. R. STREATFIELD,
593 Victoria Avenue, Victoria, B.C.,
November 7, 1934.

INTERNATIONALISM

Sir,—The great importance given by many religious and philosophic exponents to the theory of internationalism as a practical policy for immediate application, would seem to clash with some of the basic principles of life—life as it exists on this planet, and in the ordinary acceptance of the term. We who live are composed of water, of the salinity of the sea, revolving in a bag of skin, under pressure. A corpse started at one spot within the body would return, like the moon, to the place from which it started on its journey throughout the circulation of its orbit, in thirty seconds.

The rhythm of pulse, respiration, tides, earth, sun and stars in their courses, repeats according to nature's laws. Confusion is the effect present between the conception of laws of nature and men's legislative enactments.

A law of nature being "a recognized sequence of events," as such is imperfectly apprehended. One of these observed sequences is the law of self preservation common to organic life. The man fights and works for the life and safety of himself, mate, offspring, clan, nation, and so on. Another sequence is the survival of the fittest, though not of necessity the best. "The meek shall inherit the earth" becomes a fallacious observation—the eternal struggle for existence being a condition without which we should as individuals and nations fade out.

This extinction obtains in spite of any and every form of government, under tyranny, monarchy, republic, dictatorship, or communism, each succeeding each in varying degree and order, as circumstances permit, instead.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
(From The Daily British Colonist of November 8, 1884.)

Theatre Royal—"Golden Bawn" was presented before a large audience last night at the New Theatre Royal. C. Pender, for whose benefit it was given, sustained the leading role of Miles Copeland in a very creditable manner. Mr. Pender is a promising young actor. His first appearance on the stage a short time, his first appearance having been made in this city.

Skill or Black Cod—The editorial department of The Colonist had fish for dinner yesterday. Mr. Combed, a civil engineer of this city, brought in some skill or black cod caught in the Queen Charlotte Islands. The fish are all that has been claimed for them—the finest the sea can produce. The average weight of the fish captured was six pounds.

cluding religions, savage or benign. Competition then being a concomitant of continued existence, any sets of laws out of harmony with this law are likely to defeat their object. Any endeavor to persuade the lion to lie down with the lamb, or vice versa by force, that is by legislation, is doomed to failure. Somewhat to curb "man's inhumanity to man" may be accomplished by education and enlightenment upon the science and art of living. But the history of man upon the earth cannot be obliterated nor disregarded. We are of the sea salty. We must fight with desperate courage, not now against monsters of the deep, nor against devils and damnation. Our battle, unless meantime we destroy each other, is arrayed against the infinitely little, the microbes of earth, air, water, and not least, against the well-meaning loud speakers who, blind themselves, would lead us in triumph by short cuts to the millennium.

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Sir,—Some time ago I was urgently requested by the executive and citizenship committees of the Local Council of Women to allow my name to be presented as their nominee for school trustee at the forthcoming elections. After careful consideration, I finally consented.

Representatives of the affiliated societies of the Local Council of Women present at the recent November meeting expressed hearty and unanimous endorsement of my candidature. Will you allow me, through the courtesy of your columns, to convey to each member of these societies my sincere thanks for the honor thus accorded.

APPRECIATION AND RETROSPECT

Sir,—We always enjoy reading this column. Some of the letters we digest with relish, others do not agree with us very much, but it is always good to learn of the viewpoint of others, in order that we may try and apply it to the betterment of our city at large.

The letter of W. F. Loveland, under the caption of "Remembrance Day," struck a responsive chord in that it suggests the necessity of unity and co-operation in the arrangements of our Remembrance Day Parade, and to make it a spectacle worthy of the thoughts which prompted its inception.

As a spectator of last year's parade, however, I do not agree that it was a "shuffle with a disgusted collection of returned men lagging behind like a cavalry band."

Far from it! There was loyalty, grit and determination on those men's faces. The true sense of the returned men did not look down at the heels and their clothes looked shabby, and some hobbled on account of their war wounds. Still, they wore the best clothes they had and walked as well as they could. And I think in all fairness to them we should admire their pluck to turn out shabby-looking as they were. And I also admired the fit men who were well dressed and marched every bit as smartly and erect as the best of the active military units, and we should give credit to those same men who were not ashamed to march with their less fortunate comrades, a tribute to all ex-service men.

The letter, too, by Rev. Owen L. Jull, under the caption of Armistice Day Service, ably expresses the sentiments of many of our people and of myself as a returned man. It is really lamentable that the minority section of the religious groups serving in the Army and Navy, should have raised such a question at this time when nearly everyone is asking for, and working for, a united front, particularly the veterans themselves, and it makes us wonder why that same minority did not dare to include the words, and the prayer of our Empire, "God Save the King," which is really an embodiment of the Lord's Prayer expressed differently. It would be interesting to know how this same religious body can meet this thought.

THE DOUGLAS SOCIAL CREDIT THEORY

Sir,—As explained by Mr. John Bowen-Colthurst in last Sunday's Colonist, he writes "quite simply," that money is our economic lifeblood, which we admit, but scheme "A," called "National Credit," proposes to nationalize it. This is, in plain language, robbery, as it would take money and credit from those who have been careful, saving and fortunate, and distribute it with those who have been the reverse. This would be downright robbery, although wrapped up in fine phrases. "B" scheme sound better, viz. "The Just Price." Well, the voters of Canada or elsewhere are mostly to blame for unjust ones. Notice the irritating taxes business men have to pay (which, of course, must be passed on to the purchaser), as heavy import duties, sales taxes, licences to do business, etc., when everyone should have the right to buy or sell without such barriers. Then prices would adjust themselves almost automatically.

For instance, the farmer has to sell his produce in a free and open market of competition, but he is compelled to purchase most of his requirements in a protected one, but if he bought his supplies, his labor and other services relatively on a par with his sales it would not seriously matter whether prices were high or low, and Mr. J. B. C.'s "just price" would be nearer reality. This rests with the voters and government, and would tend against monopolies, although these monopolies at present must remember that they are helping Socialism more than they are probably aware.

The third proposal is on a par with the first, and is robbery. It really means sharing other people's capital, the just with the unjust, the industrious with the idle, the fortunate with the unfortunate. It's a sugar-coated pill, at best, deceiving the unemployed and discontented, as all of us will find we will have to work for our living whether the Douglas theorists are in power or any other form of government. But as there seems to be doubts as to what capital really is, being spoken and written about so ignorantly and lightly, I will endeavor to explain as follows:

Capital is savings, the skill and work of the laborer, the efficiency of the much-abused middleman. The merchant, manufacturer and all others who save out of their earnings are producers of capital. Even those who spend part of their wages and salaries either in indulgences, extravagances or waste over and above their real requirements are simply turning over their overplus to those who offer to become capitalists. In fact, as many of us have done they have sold their birthright for a mess of pottage, to use a Scriptural phrase.

Capital is then what is saved and used in order to set labor in motion, whether the labor be their own or that of other people, and to make it more effective.

The capital of a country consists of its foodstuffs, tools, machinery, etc., its money. Its money, in so far as what money is, is an instrument of production or exchange. All hoardings of gold, as the United States has been doing (something like the old lady who saves her money in an old teapot) is a hindrance to capital; also protective duties are a hindrance; just the same as if a municipality made good streets and then placed barriers which would hinder traffic.

The price of shares does not always represent capital, as the recent few years have shown. Land that is producing less and less per acre, like the United States and Canada are largely doing, means that to a great extent we are living upon the country's capital, which sooner or later means going to the bow-wow, whereas, as per statistics, England is gradually producing more grain per acre, hence capital in their land is improving.

Millions of money do not always count, as they do not always go up like smoke, vanished, previously supposed to be capital.

Some Socialists, Communists and others would conscript capital, or part of it. Well then there soon would be no capital, as it takes a capitalist to buy capital, so no buyers, but only a state of anarchy and famine.

I will end as I began, by saying all capital has been saved, though not always by the ones that have it. Sometimes it slips through one's fingers for another's benefit. I advise young men to read "The Wealth of Nations," by Adam Smith. By so doing they will learn the material truth. T. W. SWALLOW,

General Tsai, Who Defended
Shanghai Against Japanese,
Is on U.S. Tour

An invitation to visit Victoria has been sent by leaders of Little China, here, to General Tsai Ting Kai, Chinese war hero, who held the headlines of newspapers throughout the world for the splendid defence he made of Shanghai against Japanese forces.

General Tsai is at present visiting the United States, having completed a European tour, on which he was feted by the leaders of different countries.

Chinese leaders here expect to hear from General Tsai within the next two or three days. If he should visit Victoria, the celebration of his

Mrs. Elizabeth Allott Passes
Away in Her Eighty-
Third Year

Victoria lost a well-loved personality with the death, yesterday morning, of Mrs. Elizabeth Allott, who passed away at her home, 1528 Foul Bay Road, in her eighty-third year. Resident in the city for the past thirty-eight years, Mrs. Allott had a host of friends, and her sympathies for other people's troubles were one of her greatest characteristics, and many will mourn her passing.

Although she had been in indifferent health and confined to the house for some time, she was active and alert almost to the last, and about a fortnight ago attended a performance at one of the local theatres.

LOYAL SUPPORTER
The drama in various forms was one of her special enthusiasms, and she was one of the most loyal supporters of the dramatic societies instituted here some years ago, as well as one of the keenest patrons of good plays brought to the city, and of the amateur dramatic clubs' performances. She was a charter member of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club, and a constant attendant at their lectures and other affairs until her health began to fail about two years ago.

Born in Torquay, England, on December 3, 1851, Mrs. Allott came to Canada a few years before the family moved to Victoria. Her husband, Walter Allott, predeceased her some time ago. She is survived by three sons and one daughter, W. A. Allott, Kamloops; A. W. Allott, Victoria; W. G. Allott, Seattle, and Mrs. Dudley Green, Victoria.

The funeral service is to be private, and burial to be made at sea.

TO ENFORCE WAGE LAWS

Hon. G. S. Pearson Tells Rotarians Government Will Not Codify Industry

Some of the difficulties of fixing arbitrary minimum wages in the fourth year of a general depression were outlined for Victoria Rotarians yesterday in the Empress Hotel by Hon. George S. Pearson, their luncheon guest. The Government, he said, was not seeking to codify industry, but would bar unfair business practices.

Rulings of the Industrial Relations Board become statutory when gazetted, and will be enforced by law. Voluntary co-operation is sought first. Firms that would not co-operate now, might have to "crawl" later, the Minister of Labor declared. Between two fires, labor and capital, the Ministry was trying to deal justly with all, he said.

FOLLOWED PRECEDENT
"Labor wanted a flat minimum wage of fifty cents an hour throughout. If I set that rate, half of the industries of the province would go down, and the other half would also suffer. As a matter of fact, we have not set any minimum wage, that was not already in existence in the bulk of the industries concerned," Mr. Pearson continued.

It was to be remembered that there were two types of industry in British Columbia, an unbalanced province economically. Most of the natural resources handled went to outside or world markets for sale. This was true of 90 per cent of the lumber, 75 per cent of the fish, almost all of the minerals, and about half of the coal and agricultural products. In this group world prices tended to fix what rates could be paid.

HIGHLY COMPETITIVE

The domestic group, remaining, was highly competitive, particularly on the borderline between provinces. If the minimum wage for this group were set too high, profitable operation would become impossible, and production would cease. Many businesses, also, depended on the success of other enterprises, where any wage increase could only be passed on to the consumer.

For these reasons, caution was necessary, and was being exercised by the Government in the approach to the whole question, Mr. Pearson continued.

Business ethics were a thing of the spirit. Realization was coming that unselfish and mutually co-operative action in business was not only human, but economical as well. The bulk of production should go, not into reserve, but into distribution and use in the form of wages.
"If we do not move forward in this regard, we are going to have men who will take over and do far more damage than men like myself have been accused of, and for years to come," Mr. Pearson said.

PROGRESS MADE
"We consider that we have made a great deal of progress. We consider that we have done a very small amount of damage. No progress can be made without crushing someone, but a niche will eventually be found for all. The ultimate aim is to raise living conditions," the minister continued.

Under existing laws, the Department of Labor, through the Industrial Relations Board, had the right to step in to examine the books of any firm, or to demand certified payrolls. It was proposed first to try co-operation before force was used. If voluntary compliance were withheld, then enforcement through the courts would follow, Mr. Pearson concluded.

Action in Supreme Court Here Revives Old Troubles in Saanich
—Continues Today

In the Supreme Court here, Mr. Justice Harold B. Robertson is hearing evidence in an action in which James S. Brandon, Lottie H. Handy and F. L. Shaw appear as the plaintiffs, with Frederick L. Handy and Ambrose F. Matthews as the defendants. The action is taken to set aside a conveyance by which a farm in Saanich was conveyed from F. L. Handy to Mr. Matthews, in 1932. The allegation set out by the plaintiffs in the action is that the transaction was for the purpose of defeating claims which were made against Mr. Handy.

WE BRING "SUMMER" BACK TODAY

To motorists who find they have to use the choke more and more, here's good news. Thermalized Super-SHELL is here!

Forget cool weather engine troubles, excessive choking and extravagant waste of gasoline.

With Thermalized Super-SHELL you need to use the choke only half as long as with ordinary gasolines.

And instead of the usual jerky, sputtering get-away, you notice a summer-like flow of smooth power. A gasoline that's Thermalized doesn't worry about an engine's temperature. It delivers full power long before a motor reaches the warmed-up stage.

That means faster starts. Far better mileage. You can save as much as a cupful of gasoline every time you start with a cold motor.

It means quicker pick-up, surprising power—summer-time performance this month, next, and the month after.

Today at all Shell stations—and only at Shell. The Thermalizing process, which makes gasoline far more concentrated and specially adapts it to all prevailing local temperatures, is exclusively a Shell method.

CONCERT TONIGHT AT CITY SHELTER

Citizens' Recreation Rooms Committee Arranges Series of Winter Entertainments

The entertainment committee of the Citizens' Shelter has planned a series of concerts to be held for the men who make use of the rooms. The first of this series for the Winter months will be held in the rooms, tonight, commencing at 8:15 o'clock.

The programme has been arranged by Thomas Obee, and will include the following items: Lav-ery's Harmonica Band; Stanley James, comedian; Ernest Impett, comic songs; Leo Holden, singing cowboy with guitar; W. Farmer, illustrated songs; Joseph Harper, whistler; Bert Moore, trick pianist; John Gow, magician; Ray Hunt, tap dancer; S. Murray, cornet solo; Eric Chalmers, character actor; The Finn Sisters, burlesque dancers; W. Anderson, violinist; Reginald Clark, baritone solo; Boyd McGill, shadowgraphist; and Jerry Schofield, pianist. Alderman James Adam will act as chairman during the programme.

The committee is planning to provide free programmes twice a month until next Spring. The arrangements are being made by Rev. J. H. A. Warr, chairman; Rev. G. G. Boothroyd, and A. H. Hundleby, who form the entertainment committee. The many artists who provide the programmes give voluntary service to assist the institution in this phase of its work among unemployed men.

Expects "Mounties" At Show to Land U.S. Criminals in "Stir"

New York Writers Greatly Aroused at Magnificent Display of Police Riders — Manoeuvres Are Breath-Taking

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (CP).—First visit of a detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police to the United States annual National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden has aroused New York to such an extent that newspapermen are digging up adjectives that were buried after the Great War Armistice to express their appreciation.

Joe Williams, writing in the World-Telegram, expresses the opinion of most of the show critics when he says: "Admitting the unique effect of the males in the boxes, all of whom were stovepipe hats, as if mourning a departed Tammany leader, and the gentlemen who wrapped their expensive tummies in butcher aprons as they drove those little toy buggies around the ring, the hit of the show was the Canadian Mounties. Take my word for it, this is the most spectacular thing that ever showed under the Garden roof, including the first McLarnin-Petrolie brawl."

NAME NOT FLATTERING

"To the strains of 'The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers' (which did not seem altogether flattering to the Mounties of their mounts) a division of thirty-two spirited horses carried their scarlet-coated masters through a series of intricate drill manoeuvres that was nothing short of breath-taking—a series that was brought to a rousing climax with a galloping charge the full length of the arena.

"The Mounties do everything the Royal Canadian Mounted Police do on horseback. At that, I was slightly disappointed in the finale, when the horses didn't stand upright at attention while the band played 'God Save the King.' Perhaps this was too stenciled for them.

"No longer is it a mystery why the Mounties always get their man. It must be a pleasure to surrender to those fellows. Before the week is over I venture to say they will have Dutch Schultz and Baby Face Nelson on their knees begging to go to the stir."

Meeting Today—E. M. Strait, superintendent of the Experimental Station on the Island, is to address the Real Estate Board at the luncheon today in Spencer's dining-room, commencing at 12:30 p.m.

Short Wave Club—The annual meeting of the Victoria Short Wave Club will be held at 1224 Johnson Street, on Saturday evening, when members will be the guests of W. F. Wilson. Officers for the next year will be elected.

Want Taggers—The Poppy Day committee desires to secure a number of volunteer taggers for Saturday, and would like anyone who is able to assist to communicate with the office at 1425 Douglas Street. The taggers will be expected to begin on Saturday morning.

Arts and Crafts—The annual meeting of the Island Arts and Crafts Society will take place at the club rooms, corner of Yates and Langley Streets, on Thursday, November 22, at 8 o'clock. The principal item of business will be the election of officers.

Adjudged for a Week—The hearing of the charge against Harry Clough, accused of theft, was remanded in the city police court yesterday for another week, awaiting the arrival of a necessary witness from California. The case is being remanded from week to week until the return of the witness.

Eight Lots Sold—At the city tax sale yesterday morning conducted by E. C. Smith, city treasurer, eight more lots were disposed of, bringing in $2,639.14, which covered the charges against the properties. The sale will be continued this morning at 10 o'clock.

Injured Leg—Leg injuries were suffered by "Scotty" Pelkey, an Indian, when he was struck down by a car while crossing the intersection of Port and Douglas Streets yesterday afternoon. Frank Greenwood, of 2619 Cavendish Avenue, was the driver of the car.

Safety Device—Chief of Police Thomas Heatley yesterday inspected a new device for bicycles that would act as a warning to motorists much in the same manner as the reflectors now used by cyclists. The device is in vogue in the Old Country.

Milk Scheme Filed—The marketing scheme proposed by the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association was filed with the Provincial Marketing Board, yesterday, and will be followed, today, by a delegation of the Mainland organization coming for final audience with the board, officials said. The plan proposes pooling of returns within separate grades.

Consider Blood Tests—Hon. K. C. MacDonald and R. W. Zavitz will meet British Columbia poultrymen at Vancouver, on Saturday, to discuss Federal regulation as to blood-testing of poultry shipped out of a province for production of hatching eggs. British Columbia poultrymen have been opposing the Federal regulation, and further discussion will follow at the week-end.

Threatens Action—Action against the city of Victoria is threatened in the matter of an accident that occurred to Harry Atkinson on Port Street, when, he alleges, he received severe injuries as a result of one of the crutches which he was using going through a hole in a prism lighting fixture in the sidewalk. He is represented by R. D. Harvey.

Premier Will Speak—Premier T. D. Pattullo will conduct the first broadcast from the Prime Minister's office at the Legislative Buildings ever staged over the air, when he takes over the microphone of CBCV by remote control, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The Premier will speak for half an hour, and is expected to discuss the record of his Administration during its first year in office.

Pollution From Oil—The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has written from the head office in London, requesting any information with regard to the pollution of Coast waters in this vicinity by way of oil having been allowed to be discharged into the sea. It is desired to know what injuries are worked, if any, by reason of this upon bird life, fish life and sea vegetable life.

Will Decorate Plaque—Premier Pattullo will lay a wreath on the memorial plaque in the rotunda of the Legislative Buildings, commemorating civil servants who fell in the Great War, at a ceremony to take

Armistice Ball To Take Place This Evening

The master of ceremonies has been pleased to approve the following orders of the day for the Armistice ball: Place, Empress Hotel; date, tonight; dress, optional; stand to, 9 o'clock; hop off, 9:01 o'clock.

Last year the engagement was successfully carried out, and at the conclusion all those taking part were loud in their praise of the manner and smoothness in which the objective was attained. It is hoped that this year it will be even more successful, and that many more will be taking part in what will prove to be a most enjoyable evening.

OLD-TIME DANCE

The Knights and Dames of the Thistle will hold an old-time dance in the K. of P. Hall, Broad Street, tonight. Refreshments will be served. The management extends a hearty welcome to beginners.

ST. MARY'S

The St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. held a business meeting on Wednesday evening, with the president, George Bennett, in the chair. Arrangements were made to have a musical evening next Wednesday, which will include a talk by Mr. F. T. C. Wickett, whose subject will be "The History of a Few of the Church Hymns." It was also decided to hold a bridge drive on the evening of November 21, at 8 o'clock, in the hall, and it is hoped that a large crowd will attend. After the meeting, games were enjoyed.

DUNCAN

Twenty-six members attended the weekly meeting of the St. John's branch of the Duncan Anglican Young People's Association, at St. John's Hall on Tuesday night. After a short business session, presided over by Mr. H. Graham, during which letters were read from visiting members to the recent rally, Norman Southcott gave a talk on "Hymnology." The evening concluded with a sing-song.

ST. MARK'S

The regular meeting of St. Mark's Society was held Wednesday. Rev. E. F. Church gave an interesting talk on mental psychology. A discussion followed.

Christmas Bazaar To Be Held Today

A Christmas bazaar will be held this afternoon and evening by the Women's Auxiliary to the Oak Bay United Church in the social room. The affair will be opened at 3 o'clock by Mrs. James Hood. Afternoon tea will be served and at 6:30 o'clock, supper will be served, following which an entertaining programme has been arranged.

There will be many stalls at this affair and in addition to the usual counters, there will be novelties, contests and games, in charge of the members of the association. It is hoped that a large gathering will attend and thus swell the funds, which will be used in the church work.

FOOTBALL DANCE

The Esbeque football team held a successful dance at the Mount View High School recently. The prizes were awarded at 12 midnight to Mrs. J. C. Newbury, lady's toilet set, and Miss M. Rogers, brush set. The next business meeting will take place tonight at St. Martin's Hall.

Engagement Is Announced

MISS BETHEA ROBERTS

An engagement of much interest was recently announced of Bethea Caroline, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, of Errington, B.C., formerly of Field, B.C., to Mr. Richard T. Yates, second son of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Yates, of Tunstall, Lancashire, England. The wedding will take place early this month at St. Mary's Church, Errington.

Clubs and Societies

Langford W.A.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Prince of Wales Branch No. 91 Canadian Legion, Langford, was held on Monday, with Mrs. A. G. Mackie presiding. A letter from Mrs. H. Simpson was read by the secretary, Mrs. H. Pike, explaining the objects of the local personal service club. The question of a piano for the club-rooms was discussed. It was decided to ask the Langford Scout Troop to parade with the local returned men at the Remembrance Day Service in St. Matthew's Church on Sunday, at 11 a.m. Arrangements were made for poppies to be sold in the local public schools, subject to the permission of the trustees. Tentative plans were made for a Christmas party for the children of returned soldiers and sailors. It is hoped that Mrs. W. H. Booth will be the speaker at the December meeting. A card party was held in the hall, recently, seven tables of bridge being in progress. The prize winners were: First, Mrs. Reid and Mr. H. A. Hincks; consolation, Mrs. Hincks and Mr. M. Johnston. Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. G. Mackie and members of the women's auxiliary.

Women Conservatives
A meeting of the Victoria Conservative Women's Association was held last evening at headquarters, the president, Mrs. K. Palmer, in the chair. Mrs. T. Jennings and Mrs. K. Carlsson Brown were welcomed as new members. The following conveners of committees were appointed: Social and ways and means, Mrs. Sinclair; house, Mrs. Granger; welfare, Mrs. Rolston; music, Miss Edgar and Mrs. S. R. Bowden; education and speakers, Mrs. K. Palmer; publicity, Mrs. Lowe, and current events, Mrs. Walt. Mrs. Robert D. Harvey, convener of the reception to be held at "Mount Adelaide," reported that plans were well in hand and that the affair promises to be a great success. Mrs. Rolston, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Lennie and Mrs. Robertson were appointed delegates to the Local Council of Women. At the close of the meeting, there was general discussion on various matters of interest.

Emmanuel W.A.
The monthly meeting of the Emmanuel Women's Auxiliary was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. A. B. Boyer, 971 Wilmer Street. The president, Mrs. Violet Taylor was in the chair. Final plans were made for the annual bazaar, to be held on Saturday, December 1, the following being in charge: Fancy work, Mrs. A. S. Woollard and Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin; miscellaneous, Mrs. W. Wilson and Mrs. A. B. Boyer; home cooking, Ladies' Aid Society; afternoon tea, C.G.I.T. department; candy and fish pond, Young People's Society; men's stall, Mr. J. R. Westcott; and Sewing meetings in preparation for the bazaar are being held each Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Boyer.

T.V.A. Auxiliary
The Women's Auxiliary to the Tubercular Veterans will furnish refreshments for Remembrance Day taggers at Hatt's Hall, Douglas Street, from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. tomorrow, and all taggers will be welcome. Members promising refreshments are asked to bring their donations by 9:30 a.m., to be ready for the first taggers who come in. The Auxiliary is requested to meet at the War Memorial at 10:40 a.m. Sunday.

Live Wires Meet
The Live Wires of the City Temple held their regular weekly meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Doris Henry, 2632 Scott Street. During the evening the regular business was transacted, followed by games and music, which were much enjoyed. Those present were Misses Pearl Findlay, F. Waters, K. Daley, Brownie Martin, Glen Publow, Doris Argyle, Margaret Moore, Abbey Townsend, Margaret Henry and Doris Henry.

Goforth Mission Band
The girls of the Goforth Mission Band recently held a successful afternoon tea and sale of work in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Tea was served by the members of the band. The tables were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, the color scheme being yellow and green. Those contributing to the delightful programme were Misses Dorothy Fraser, Dorothy Fuller and Barbara Bamford.

Scottish Bazaar
The St. Andrew's and Caledonia Society will hold its annual bazaar in Hatt's Hall, Douglas Street, tomorrow. There will be stalls of plain and fancywork, also home cooking, novelties and candy. Afternoon tea will be served and tea-cup reading will be arranged. Court whist will be played in the evening, commencing at 8:30 o'clock.

St. Joseph's Junior W.A.
The regular meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital was held, last evening, at the hospital, with the president, Miss Norma Porter, presiding. Miss Margaret Callier was named convener for a telephone bridge party, which the auxiliary will sponsor on the afternoon and evening of November 28.

St. Mark's W.A.
Under the auspices of St. Mark's W.A. an Armistice social will be held on Monday, at 8 p.m., in the Parish Hall. A programme will be provided with old-time fun, amusements and dancing. A blind auction will be held during the evening to auction off the gifts brought in. Supper will be served.

Cowichan Chapter
Cowichan Chapter held a well attended meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. F. G. Christmas. The regent, Mrs. F. W. Galloway, presided. New members welcomed were Mrs. A. C. Johnston and Mrs. D. A. Girvin. The educational secretary reported that reading matter was being sent regularly to families in outlying places in Northern British Columbia, and letters of appreciation from recipients were read. The chapter decided to send a Christmas gift to each child and to the teacher of the Echo Bay School, the chapter's adopted school. It was reported that four dozen I.O.D.E. calendars had been sold by the chapter and more will be ordered. Mrs. H. P. Swan gave a very interesting report on the recent meeting of the order at Chilliwack, and also, by request, read the very informative paper on the Oriental question which she had given there. A vote of thanks was accorded Miss Carr Hillon for a cheque for $12.70, part of the proceeds of an entertainment which she arranged. Cowichan Chapter will hold a Christmas fare stall at the community bazaar to be held in December in aid of the hospital. Mrs. A. Leeming addressed the meeting on the urgent necessity of a gymnasium and auditorium for the schools. She was assured of the wholehearted support of the chapter.

Porter Chapter
The monthly meeting of Porter Chapter, Chemainus, took place on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Reede, Sunnybrook Farm. Mrs. Southin reported on her visit to the Solarium, during which she delivered the donations from the recent Solarium shower. The proceeds from the tea will be used for Solarium Christmas cheer. The welfare convener reported having completed the Peace River bale, and gave a list of the contents. The quilt, although not finished, was on display and tickets are now on sale and may be secured from the members. The quilting will take place at the home of Mrs. Hill next week, when the Friendly Help Victoria bale will also be packed. Mesdames Hill, Cook and Wyllie promised to make the wreath for the Armistice service. The report of good fellowship showed that gifts had been sent to two members who had been in hospital. Mrs. Swan and Mrs. Suddaby, of Duncan, were welcomed. Mrs. Swan gave her report on the semi-annual meeting held at Chilliwack. Tea was served by the hostess, assisted by the regent, Mrs. W. Southin, and Mrs. A. Porter. The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Phillips.

Malahat Chapter
The regular meeting of the Malahat Chapter was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. May, Cobble Hill. Four visitors, Mrs. Claude Moss, O.B.E.; Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. F. J. P. Gibson and Miss Budd, were welcomed. The educational secretary reported that the I.O.D.E. calendars had been received from headquarters, and were ready for distribution. ## Miss Burton Tells of the Y.W.C.A. Work in India

Bengali Women Are Emerging Into Wider Fields of Activity—Delightful Tea Arranged for Guest of Honor Here

The membership committee of the Y.W.C.A., under the convener'ship of Miss Norma Macdonald, arranged a most delightful reception at the association headquarters, yesterday afternoon, in honor of Miss Margaret F. Burton, of Calcutta, India, who has been engaged in physical education work with the Y.W.C.A. in Bengal for the past three years.

Before tea, Miss Burton gave an interesting talk on "Women of Bengal," the reception rooms being thronged with listeners, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Roy Angus, president of the board. Miss Burton wore for the occasion a very beautiful brocade rose and gold sari, with Indian silver earrings and other ornaments. She told of the various phases of Y.W.C.A. work which is being done in Bengal, and which includes in addition to the physical training and folk dancing classes, cooking demonstrations, social affairs under the Blue Triangle Girls' Club, commercial courses, swimming and even tap dancing, which has been only recently introduced into India, and which the girls are enjoying.

The formation of a girls' swimming club was of special interest, and Miss Burton told of the difficulties which confronted the girls who had endeavored for a long time to persuade the authorities to allow them the use of the swimming pool.

BENGALI WOMEN

Miss Burton spoke in affectionate terms of the Bengali women, who are, she said, quiet, graceful, very good-looking, thoughtful and altogether charming. They were beginning to inquire about the rest of the world and gradually, through education, are anxious to assume a little more independence, which was being met by opposition on the part of their men-folk, of the more conservative type.

She spoke of the All-India Women's Conference, which was held this year in Calcutta, and which was attended by 600 delegates, when mothercraft, social service, health and hygiene and the study of hobbies were among the subjects discussed.

"India moves slowly," Miss Burton declared, "and is in many respects about 300 years behind the rest of the world. Time means nothing, hence it will be a long time before she catches up, but undoubtedly it will be through the women of India that the change will come."

SELF-GOVERNMENT

The question of self-government was touched upon by the speaker, who recalled an incident bearing on this subject. She had discussed with an Indian friend the possibility of an attempt by the Mohammedans to conquer India for Islam, in the event of Great Britain withdrawing her rule, and the reply was: "Oh, but England would have to help us out of that difficulty." There is a general feeling of dependence upon the Mother Country, despite those who would force a change of policy.

At the conclusion of her address, Miss Burton was accorded a sincere vote of thanks by Miss Macdonald, on behalf of the committee and the audience, and the visitors spent some time in the reception hall, the table, centred with bronze chrysanthemums being presided over by Mrs. F. B. Gregory and Miss Renny. Those assisting were Mrs. G. H. Bissell, Mrs. C. F. Earle, Mrs. R. H. Green, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. R. Felton, Mrs. J. T. Jones and Miss Helen Forman, others of the membership committee assisting with serving.

Chalchihuitl was a green mineral referred to by Spanish writers contemporary with Cortes. It was held in high repute by the ancient Mexicans, who valued it more than gold.

All friends of the association who are interested are asked to telephone G 2896, for details.

Social and Personal Notes

Successful Dance

Under the auspices of the Mount View High School Parent-Teacher Association, a very successful dance and card party was held on Wednesday evening. About 250 were present, and enjoyed themselves to the utmost. A special feature of the delightful occasion was the dancing of Miss Ethel Gillis, who gave beautiful exhibitions of tap and toe dances. Other outstanding numbers were the piano accordion numbers by Mr. Ernie Fullerton and Mr. J. M. Haggart, whose work was repeatedly encored; and Mr. Jack Carter's interpretations of the latest dance hits, which were also highly popular. The prizes were awarded as follows: For the spot dance, Miss Lorraine Goldie and Mr. John Banner; for the statue dance, Miss Phyllis Flight and Mr. E. Brown. For cards, ladies, first, Mrs. Mincey; second, Miss E. Smith; consolation, Mrs. W. Lord; gentlemen, first, Mr. T. Melligan; second, Mr. M. Hastings; consolation, Mr. H. Birnie. The association will hold the next dance and card party on Wednesday, November 21.

Sail on Aorangi

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Archibald, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Yvonne Archibald, sailed on Wednesday evening aboard the R.M.S. Aorangi on a six months' holiday, during which time they will visit New Zealand, Australia, England, and countries of interest in Europe. They expect to return to Victoria in the Spring.

QUEEN'S NEW HAT

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—For the first time in many years, Queen Mary appeared in public, today, with another type of hat than her own particular brand of ungarlished toque.

She arrived at the ceremonies opening new headquarters for the Royal Institute of British Art, wearing a hat with a jaunty feather spray sticking up from the left side.

Daily Bridge Question

You are dealer, vulnerable, and hold the following hand:

♠ A Q 10 5

♦ 8 7 4

♣ A Q J 10

What do you bid and why?

Answers to these questions must be delivered, mailed or telephoned the same day as question is published, and addressed to Magan & Mitchell Bridge Studios, 221-2 Pemberton Building.

Answer to Question No. 21

Lead the spade king.

If both West and East follow suit, lead a small trump to the second round, and if West plays lower than the nine, play the nine from North. If a card higher than the nine, the ace from North hand. This safety play insures against the loss of more than one trick if the adverse trump distribution is four-one.

Many Countries Are Represented At Birthday Tea

A most enjoyable evening was spent at Knox Presbyterian Church, Stanley Avenue, on Tuesday, the occasion being the second year of inauguration of the Young Women's Home Helpers' Circle, a birthday tea having been arranged. The church was a blaze of color—six countries being represented — and suitably decorated with novelties and home cooking for sale. The members were dressed in the costume of the country represented.

Canada was in charge of Mrs. L. Partington and Miss Tena McPhail. A forest with Indians standing beside their tepee, and also a beaver at a creek, was the idea carried out at this stall. Flags were the outstanding decoration.

China and Japan were in charge of Mrs. J. S. Patterson and Miss Louise Patterson, who were in Chinese and Japanese costumes. On this table some beautiful articles were shown, belonging to Miss Patterson, who collected them on her recent visit to the Orient.

SCOTTISH LASSIE

Scotland was in charge of a Scottish lassie in the person of Mrs. Nan Smith, dressed in Highland costume. Scotch articles were displayed on this table, such as heather, small bagpipes and an abundance of Scotch cooking was for sale here.

Spain was in charge of Mrs. R. Scoble and Mrs. H. Curtis. Articles relative to Spain were sold here.

Ireland was ably represented by Misses Nessie Mitchell and Bea Hawkins, dressed in Irish costume, and the stall was appropriately decorated.

Holland was looked after by Misses Agnes Marquart and Peggy McPhail, dressed in Dutch costume. A miniature pond was the idea chosen at this stall, with tulips and windmills suitably arranged, and various articles for sale.

APPROPRIATE MUSIC

Throughout the evening appropriate music was played by an orchestra. Miss Dawson acted as accompanist for Mrs. J. S. Patterson, who contributed two solos which were much enjoyed.

Miss Mary McPhail had charge of the refreshments, and her table in the centre of the room was effectively decorated in mauve and silver. In the centre of the table beautiful mauve chrysanthemums were arranged in a silver basket, and at one end was a lovely birthday cake, in honor of the occasion. Mrs. Patterson, honorary president of the circle, and Mrs. Scoble, president, poured tea and were ably assisted by the members.

Bridge and Anniversary Tea Planned

Final arrangements for the combined anniversary tea and bridge party, to be held on Tuesday afternoon, November 27, by the Victoria Connaught Seamen's Institute, were made yesterday at the meeting held in the institute, with the president, Mrs. W. R. Sayer, in the chair. The affair will be held in the institute, and bridge, which is under the convener'ship of Mrs. D. R. Ker, will commence at 3 o'clock. Reservations for tables may be made by telephoning G 1839 or E 6378.

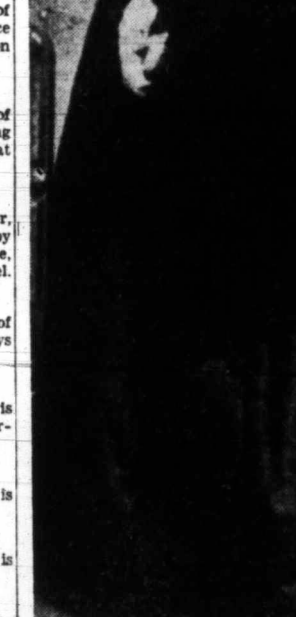

Tea will be served from 3:30 o'clock, and it is hoped that friends of the institute will make a point of attending and help increase the treasury, which is needed in carrying on the work which brings so much pleasure to visiting sailors.

Men registered during the month totaled 216, twenty-eight apprentices and thirty ships.

The notice outside the little photographer's shop said: "Life-size enlargements from your own snapshots."

A visitor walked inside. "You might see what you can do with this little snap of Niagara Falls," he said.

Has Reached a Great Age

MRS. PETER LENOIR

Of Halifax, Nova Scotia, Is Celebrating Her One Hundred and First Birthday Today.

THOUGH MOUNTAINS DIVIDE US

To Canada's Grand Old Lady, Mrs. Peter Lenoir, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, on her one hundred and first birthday anniversary, November the ninth, nineteen hundred and thirty-four.

A truce to the years while we tarry But briefly "Best Wishes" to say: May health and its manifold blessings Make glad every step of your way! There joy to be with you and basking Today in the light of your smile: In the fragrant communion of friendship, Unfettered by distance the while. But, severed by space we, in spirit Are near you and marvel to see How so lightly the years pass upon you. How gracious still promise to be. Your form, as of yore is as upright. Your cheek like some soft sliver-rose. As a jewel reflecting the moonbeams, Your bosom with tenderness glows. Your fond recollections are clustered Round days that were sweet and serene: Though there needs must be seasoned with sorrow, Some portion in passing I wren. From out the far West we salute you In token of time-honored ties. And though measureless mountains divide us, As boundless, the memories we prize!

—MARY H. RATHOM.

Victoria, B.C., November, 1934.

Mrs. Lenoir, to whom the above lines are addressed, is sister of the late Honorable Amor De Cosmos, a stalwart champion of Confederation, who was elected as member for Victoria District in British Columbia's first parliament, which convened in February, 1872, and who became Premier and President of Council from December, 1872, to February, 1874.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

IMPAIRED HEARING

Anyone who has had to listen to a speaker with a scarcely audible voice for an hour or two has some slight idea of what a schoolchild with impaired hearing has to put up with in day and out throughout the school year.

These children are too often accused of inattention, indifference and laziness. Why does it not occur to the parent and teacher that the child might be hard of hearing. Older people have no rights on deafness.

The most common causes of partial deafness in children are enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids and an abscessed ear (called Otitis Media). The latter usually occurs during a contagious disease, particularly scarlet fever, measles and tonsillitis, although an ordinary cold in the nose may cause it. The child who pulls at his ear or complains of pain in or about it, or who has a yellowish or bloody discharge from it, should have immediate attention.

To detect defects in hearing, watch for: Inattentiveness or apparent carelessness; the child who studies a person's mouth very carefully when he or she is speaking; the child who first studies other children before doing anything. When any of these habits are observed, have his hearing tested by a nose and throat, or child's physician.

CHAPTER XXIX

Joan stopped for breath, and just then Penelope came in and began to serve simple refreshments, and the children forgot for the moment the things that Joan had said to them. But when, a little later, they went rushing through the woods, and reached their homes and opened the doors and found their mothers in the bright, warm kitchens and their fathers coming in to kiss them, they remembered.

And it was Old John Leonard who said to Joan, as they watched the children eat, "My dear, you have a great gift."

"Have I? What is it?"

"You know how to reach the hearts of children," Joan's eyes filled with tears. She held out her hand to Old John Leonard. But she had no words for him.

It was on the day after the dancing lesson that a man came to Penelope's front door. Joan had gone to Evelyn's, so Penelope answered the bell.

The man who stood outside, said: "Is this Mrs. Sears?"

"Yes."

"A friend has told me of your library of rare books. I'm afraid I am doing a most daring thing in asking to see it. Am I?"

She hesitated. "I don't mind your looking at them. But if you're thinking of buying, it won't do you good. I got them from my grandfather, and I intend to keep them."

He had heard other people talk like that, yet, in the end, he had gone away with what he wanted. There were subtle methods of approach.

So he said, "My own books came from my grandfather. I know how you feel."

She opened the door. "Oh, well, it won't hurt to let you have a look at them."

"I have a letter of introduction from a bookshop in Portland," he offered it, but she waved it away. "I don't need any letter," she said. "I can tell what a man is by the looks of him."

They laughed, and she led the way to the living-room. She showed him the high bookcases. "There they are," she said, "take your time."

"I'll have to ask you to excuse me. I'm baking a cake, and I'll have to watch my oven."

His smiling eyes met hers. "You are sure you can trust me?"

She laughed. "Why not?"

As she went towards the kitchen, Giles wished that he might follow her. She reminded him in some respects to Dudley; there was the same wholesomeness, the same homely preoccupation. He felt that he would rather watch her bake a cake than look at rare editions. He was tired of association with dead and gone authors. What he wanted was human companionship.

Yet when he turned at last to the shelves and read the titles, he was aware of a sense of excitement. Such treasures! Things that his patrons wanted. Things that he could get his own price for. He wondered by what means he could get this pleasant person to listen. She was, apparently, rather prosperous. The thing to do was to take her breath away with the biggest amount possible. Values had been mounting of late. Perhaps no one had told her of the goodly sum that lay within easy reach of her hand.

When she came in, therefore, after a while to see how he was getting on, he said, "I could make you a corking offer for these."

"I told you I wouldn't sell."

"I know." Then without further argument he named a price.

He saw that she was impressed. But she said only, "I'll think about it." He could not know, of course, that he had come at an opportune moment. With Joan as a part of her household, Penelope had begun to dream a bit. She had thought she and the child might travel—there was a not-too-expensive Mediterranean tour.

She went back to watch her cake and to turn things over in her mind. And presently Giles came out to her. "There are two volumes of a first edition 'Great Expectations,'" he said, "there should be a third, but I can't find it."

"It is there somewhere. On the table under the lamp, I think," said Penelope vaguely, she was trying her cake with a broom straw. It was a lovely cake, puffy and brown. Giles forgot first editions for the moment while Penelope drew out the straw, decided the cake needed a few more minutes, opened the oven door, and hid the brown beauty in its cavernous depths.

Giles' eyes took in with appreciation the charm of the shadowy shining kitchen. A big kettle on the stove was bubbling and boiling. Old Muffet was stretched on the checkerboard linoleum which covered the floor, her grey fur flattered to silver by its blue and white. Her tail waved gently, and the kittens struck at it and leaped back, graceful as leaves dancing in the wind.

"How delicious this is," Giles said.

"Do you like it?"

"Yes. I sometimes think there was a real aesthetic value in the fine old kitchens of our ancestors. You could put a whole efficiency apartment into one of them, and there was much more of real loveliness than in the cheap imitative effects of much of our time."

He looked at the table and went back reluctantly to his books. Penelope called after him that when the cake was done he was to have a slice of it and a cup of tea. "Which helps a lot," he told her.

He found lying on the table the thin purple volume which he sought. He found, too, a handkerchief tucked between the pages to hold the place.

The handkerchief was a wisp of a thing in pale yellow. . . as he lifted it his nostrils were assailed by a faint perfume. . . white roses!

His heart seemed to stop beating. Joan!

He looked about the room as if to find some further trace of her. He said aloud to the empty air, "Of course it can't be, it can't."

With the handkerchief in his hand, he sought the kitchen. "Mrs. Sears," he said, and held up the wisp of chiffon, "do you mind telling me whose this is?"

Penelope turned from the oven. "That? Oh, it's Joan's. Joan Dudley."

"Where is she?"

"In the village. Why?"

"Because . . . well, I'm Giles Armiger, of Granitehead, and Miss Dudley and I were rather good friends. She used to come into my shop."

"Well, of all things, Penelope was on tiptoe with curiosity. She remembered that Joan had spoken of Giles. 'What make you think it was her handkerchief?'"

He laughed. "I recognized the perfume."

"Well, she'll be glad to see you."

"I'm not sure."

"Why not?"

"She went away without leaving any word, Mrs. Sears. It seems strange that just by chance I should find her."

"Nothing is by chance," said the orthodox Penelope; "there's a plan back of everything."

"I wish I was sure of it."

"When you are as old as I you'll know."

"Perhaps," Giles shelved theology for the subject in hand. "When do you think she's back?"

"Joan? Oh, in time for tea."

"And I'm to have it with you?"

"Of course."

"I don't believe it."

"Why not?"

"Because in real life things don't happen that way."

"They happen if they're going to happen," Penelope was a Presbyterian.

He laughed. "Perhaps they do. Who knows?"

He returned to the living-room and to the books. But he couldn't get his mind on them. Joan was coming.

He went to the window and stood looking out. He overlooked the wood which was lighted at this moment by the sunset. Back of the trees the sky was glittering, hard, like burnished copper. The branches of the pine trees stood out against it in purple masses. The whole effect was unreal, artificial, but supremely beautiful. And the beauty was heightened and intensified as a girl's figure appeared at the end of the path which led to the house. She wore a coat and skirt of dull red wool and a close hat of the same color was drawn over her hair. The light flickered over her like a flame, so that she seemed to Giles' quickened imagination to glow and shine.

As she came on with quick step, he drew back from the window. He heard her voice in the kitchen and Penelope's remark: "There's some-

"VANITIES" OPEN TODAY AT EMPIRE

Broadway Musical Show to Be Here Three Days—Brilliant Acts With Company

"The Broadway Vanities," fresh from a triumphal tour across the United States, will open a Victoria engagement of three days at the Empire Theatre this afternoon and will show again this evening, as well as tomorrow and Monday.

There are many fine acts with this revue, which has received the praise of theatrical critics in leading cities where it has appeared. The costumes are said to be novel and unusual and the scenery is colorful and smart.

Among the feature acts are Russ Ferris and Chuck Wilson in a comedy act; Art, Bonger and Andrietta, in a musical offering; the Three Sensations, fancy roller skaters; Hills and Flint, a dance team; Maria Arrigo, also a dancer; the Brown Sisters and "Buddy"

AMUSEMENTS

On the Stage
Empire—"Broadway Vanities."

On the Screen
Capitol—Norma Shearer in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Columbia—"Master of Men," starring Jack Holt.

Dominion—Grace Moore in "One Night of Love."

Playhouse—"Grand Canary," starring Warner Baxter.

Brown. All these artists have appeared on Broadway and some of them have been featured over leading radio programmes.

COLUMBIA Jack Holt, starred in the Columbia production, "Master of Men," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, has the most law-abiding ancestry in Hollywood. He is a direct descendant of John Colt, Lord Chief Justice of England, and John Marshall, Chief Justice of the United States.

BRIGHT MUSICAL IS AT DOMINION

Grace Moore, Radio and Stage Favorite, Seen in Leading Role of "One Night of Love"

Grace Moore's sensational screen triumph in the star role of Columbia's "One Night of Love," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre, marks one of the bright spots of the current cinema season.

Miss Moore's radiant personality and beautiful singing voice, which had been hailed from the stages of the La Scala Opera House in Vienna, the Opera Comique in Paris and the Metropolitan Opera in New York, has now found an enthusiastically responsive audience in the millions of moviegoers throughout Canada and the United States.

The character of "Mary Barrett," which Miss Moore creates in "One Night of Love" parallels to a degree her own remarkable life story. It relates the adventures of a young, ambitious girl in Italy studying for an operatic career, who rapidly climbs the ladder of fame until she reaches the crest with her debut at the Metropolitan. Supporting Miss Moore, in the role of the amorous music instructor is Tullio Carminati, debonair, romantic leading man, and Lyle Talbot, as the playboy in Milan.

PLAYHOUSE Zita Johann, who is reputed to be the only actress of Hungarian descent in motion pictures, has an important role in support of Warner Baxter in "Grand Canary," the Jesse L. Lasky production for Fox Film which is now at the Playhouse Theatre.

DICK POWELL TO BE STARRING IN REVUE

Dick Powell hadn't been able to separate his real and his screen lives until his latest Warner Bros. production, "Dames," which comes to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

In "Blessed Event" he was an orchestra leader. Dick, before entering the movies, was leader of an orchestra. Then came "42nd Street," in which he enacted the role of a singer. Dick has always been a singer.

That was followed by "Gold Diggers of 1933," in which he played the part of a song-writer. Dick has written and had published many song successes, the most popular of which was "Time Will Tell."

In "Dames" while Dick sings, his part is that of a musical comedy writer. He admits that he has never written such a piece in real life, but he has aspirations.

TUNEFUL OPERETTA TO BE PRODUCED IN CITY

"A Country Girl," which will be presented by the Victoria Operatic Society at the Empire Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, November 15, 16 and 17, has been the most consistently successful of all English musical comedies.

Frequenter of London's theatres a quarter of a century ago will never forget Evie Green and Huntley Wright in the parts of Nan and Barry.

These two roles will be filled in the local production by Doreen Wilson and Fraser Lister, the former a newcomer to this sort of thing and the latter one of the old reliable.

Benefit Concert Set for Tonight

Final arrangements have been made for the entertainment to be given tonight, promptly at 8 o'clock, at the Quadra Street School, in aid of the North Quadra Troop, Boy Scouts Association. The programme is one of remarkable diversity, being headed by the Shrine Band at its full strength of thirty-five instruments. In addition to the highest type of music, special dances will be contributed by a number of talented Victorians, and Professor Merryfield, as well as "Yorkie," the ventriloquist, will be on hand with unusually mystifying and amusing features.

The full programme follows: Selections by the Shrine Band; Boy Scouts' choir; quartette by St. Mathias' Choir; song by Arthur Mackman; Frank Merryfield, wizard; Scotch dance by Miss Gwen Dewar; selections by the Shrine Band and trumpet solo; ventriloquist, "Yorkie"; Scotch dance by Miss A. Grant; song by Mr. Holt; tap dance by Ray Hunt; comic song by Bob Wormleighton; North Quadra Boy Scouts, and selections by the Shrine Band.

Six States Vote Out Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP).—Traditionally arid Kansas clung to prohibition in Tuesday's elections, which saw six other states apparently vote for repeal.

West Virginia and Florida voted wet by sizeable majorities. Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho voters appeared to be headed for a restoration of legal liquor.

"You hit your husband with a chair!" asked the judge. "Pray, tell me, why did you do it?"

"I did it," sighed the lady, "because I couldn't lift the table!"

U.S. WRITERS TO VISIT VICTORIA

Party of Distinguished Americans Will Be in City Sunday and Monday—Plan Functions

A party of distinguished American writers, under the leadership of Judge L. D. Mahone, of Portland, Ore., and Pamela Pearle Jones, of the faculty of the University of Washington, will be in Victoria on Sunday and Monday.

They will be the guests of Mrs. G. Storey Waller for afternoon tea on their arrival, and Judge Mahone will be the guest speaker at Metropolitan United Church in the evening.

On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, the visiting writers will be guests of the Victoria and Island branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. Rev. J. P. Hicks, president, will preside. The meeting will be held in the Princess Louise room of the Empress Hotel.

At 3 p.m. they will be the guests of honor at a small reception at Oak Bay and will leave at 4:30 o'clock for Seattle, where they will attend a meeting in the evening.

Judge Mahone is the newly-elected president of the League of Western Writers.

Charles Marie Leconte de Lisle was the greatest French poet of the modern Parnassian school.

Favor U.S. Membership In the League of Nations

BOSTON, Nov. 8 (AP).—Miss Irene Armstrong, secretary of the League of Nations Association, announced last night a decisive majority in favor of United States membership in the League of Nations, was indicated by returns from thirty-six Massachusetts representative districts, which voted on the question in yesterday's election.

MYSTERY MAN IN BACKGROUND

Referred to in Evidence Given at Ontario Liquor Board Probe

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP).—Reference to a mystery man, characterized by A. G. Slaght, K.C., commission counsel, as "Mr. X," today entered the probe of Judge D. C. Ross, of St. Thomas, into transactions of the Ontario Liquor Control Board down to and including January 1, 1934.

The individual was mentioned during examination of George A. Grover, Toronto bartender and former official of the Ward Four Conservative Association. Counsel read a letter he wrote in March, 1928, to the Sterling Bonding Company, Scottish distillery which Grover represented, suggesting the hiring of the provincial Conservative organizer to tour the province and see if their brand of liquor was carried in the stores of the Liquor Control Board.

Pressed by commissioner and counsel for the man's name, Grover refused to disclose it until he had consulted a lawyer.

"DID A LITTLE WORK"

"Mr. X" was ill and another individual, who is dead now, did work over a small part of the province. Witness thought, however, Mr. X did "a little work." He thought he was to pay the man $50 a month and said the individual made no report to him of his expenses.

Asked by counsel to name politicians whose aid he sought in having Sterling Bonding Company's products listed in the commission stores, Grover said he may have asked forty and got replies from two, but he was not insinuating that he had peculiar political influence more than anyone else.

He knew the twelve Toronto members and the representatives in the Legislature of three of the wards, but said "former Premier George S. Henry was never a friend of mine." Witness admitted accumulating about $20,000 over a period of six years, saying he "just had a bit of luck and did a bit of work" and I knew a lot of people and I wasn't going to get stepped on."

REPEAT APPEAL FOR DONATIONS

Stewart Clark Makes Anxious Plea That Citizens Help Destitute Families

The Friendly Help Welfare Association's campaign to raise $43,500 is practically at a standstill with donations coming in so slowly that the $22,000 mark has not quite been reached yet.

"It would seem that we have made sufficient appeals on behalf of the destitute families of this city to have created a ready response from the public for the necessary funds with which to bring relief to those in need," Stewart Clark, campaign manager, stated yesterday.

"However, the total to date speaks for itself. Much greater support is necessary if we are to be able to carry on our work of social welfare during the next twelve months," he said. "Every dollar counts, so bring your contributions into headquarters, No. 6 Finch Building, as soon as possible, or if you cannot make an immediate payment sign one of our pledge cards."

TAX COLLECTIONS WELL MAINTAINED

Oak Bay Reports Gratifying Results in Receipts Up to Close of October

Collection of taxes in Oak Bay up to the end of October shows $9,247 above the estimates set at the beginning of the year.

There has been collected so far $198,215.88. The estimated collections were expected to be $188,968. The amount collected during the corresponding period in 1933 was $189,209.

The gain, it was pointed out by the treasurer at yesterday's meeting of the council, was entirely in arrears, current taxes paid to October 31, 1933, being $171,381, while in 1934 they were only $170,142.

VETERANS' CONCERT WILL BE HELD AT SHRINE AUDITORIUM

The "in remembrance" concert of the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, which is to be held tonight, in Shrine Hall, will be officially opened by Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, at 8:30 o'clock.

The Britannia Branch Band, under Charles A. Raine, will play for a half-hour prior to the concert. The programme indicates a varied and interesting list of presentations, all artists being well known in this city.

Those taking part in the concert include Fred Wright, Reginald Stoffer, George Little, Misses Florence Hobday and Joyce Munday, Arthur Jackson, Misses Phyllis and Molly Holmes, Miss Katherine Redgrave, Leo Holden, Miss Gwen Dewar, Alfred Adams, Japanese wrestling club members, W. F. Crookford, W. Harkness, Eileen H. Miss Joyce Adams, Misses Lillian Grant, Jessie Pollock, Britannia Branch Band, W. Holmes, W. Anderson, Stanley James, and the Ray Sisters.

FINE PROGRAMME TO BE GIVEN TUESDAY

A splendid Remembrance programme has been prepared for presentation in Centennial United Church, Gorge Road, next Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Enid Cole, dramatic artist and teacher, will interpret "The Three Things," a book by Mary Shipman Andrews, in which the story is told of how Philip Morton found a true self through the agony of the trenches. Intensely realistic and dramatic, the story is deeply moving.

Miss Cole will be assisted by Kathleen Brown, pianist; Jack Tregal-las, reader, and by Mario Luca, a tenor soloist. An offering will be taken.

SAYS EQUALITY ONLY SOLUTION

Rev. W. R. Brown Declares Irish Problem Can Be Amicably Settled

The solution of the Irish question will be attained when England places the Free State on an equal footing. This was the contention of Rev. W. R. Brown, pastor of Victoria West United Church, in an address delivered before the Victoria West Community Forum, last night.

Mr. Brown was speaking at the opening meeting of the Forum this season. He told of his recent trip to the Old Country.

"The Irish feel they have had a poor deal from England ever since the days of the famine," declared Mr. Brown. "The basis of the trouble is that England has always looked down on the Irish as unfit for any society. Consequently, the English have put the Irish in an inferior position," he continued.

WOULD SOLVE PROBLEM

"Treat them as equals, I say. Let the English go to Ireland and do something that would show that the English want to be friends on an equal basis. If this were done, there would be no brighter jewel in the British crown than that of Ireland. It would solve the whole Irish problem," contended Mr. Brown.

He declared that tariffs imposed on exports of Irish farmers by the English was the best thing since the time of Henry II. He felt De Valera would make or break himself on the question of annuities to England.

Mr. Brown told, humorously, of his experiences in Scotland. It was there he interviewed the Lord Provost of Glasgow and found that official had a brother living on Cook Street in Victoria. The speaker said the word "depression" was no longer used in England or Scotland.

He briefly reviewed his trip across Canada and his brief stay in New York.

Keating

An enjoyable bridge party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Young, Central Saanich Road, in aid of the Mount Newton Parent-Teacher Association and the St. Mary's and St. Stephen's Churches. Four tables were in play. The high score was won by Mrs. C. L. Syan and Mr. F. North, for the P.T.A. and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Smith won the high score for the W.A. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Syan, Mr. and Mrs. F. North.

ASK THAT ROAD BE BARRICADED

Floods Cause Destruction of Old Bridge — Starting Ladysmith Improvement

LADYSMITH, Nov. 8.—At the weekly council meeting the streets committee reported that the heavy floods on Monday had taken the centre bents of the bridge over Stewart's Creek and had washed them towards the culvert under the railway. The committee had had the cleared away, and the remainder of the structure had been taken down. As it is now impossible for pedestrians to use this old part of the highway, the Government engineer is to be asked to place a solid barricade across the top of the hill, and prevent any traffic of any kind on this old road.

In the absence of the mayor, who was indisposed, Alderman Giovando was appointed to the chair. A letter was received from the hand asking donations towards the Christmas drawing, and it was decided to present one or two electric hot plates to the value of $5.

The chairman of the market square improvements committee reported that work would commence on the market square probably at the beginning of next week. Constable Byatt reported that during the month of October there had been six complaints investigated, and no arrests, trials or convictions. The court of revision on municipal voters' list will be held on Monday, December 10, and the whole of the members of the council were appointed.

RAIDERS KILLED AT SHAWNIGAN

E. G. Gibson Kills Cougar—G. Margetish Accounts Big Bad Bear

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Nov. 8.—While hunting for deer on the Koksilah range on Wednesday, E. G. Gibson, accompanied by A. Aitken, shot a female cougar measuring six feet. The animal walked out on a rocky bluff about 150 yards ahead of the hunters.

Several reports of depredations on deer by cougars have come in lately from this vicinity, and the considerable thinning out of deer in the district during the past few years is attributed in part to their ravages. Another public enemy to the local farmers was shot recently on the Pickering place by G. Margetish, in Sylva, in the form of a huge black bear weighing approximately 700 pounds.

LADYSMITH FINDS LIBRARY POPULAR

LADYSMITH, Nov. 8.—The first annual meeting of the Ladysmith Public Library was held last evening in the council chamber.

After a year of activity the annual report shows a membership of over 250, which includes seventy juveniles. There are over 1,300 volumes in the library, over 500 of which are on loan from the Public Library Commission. These latter books are exchanged in lots of 100 or less every month.

Circulation, according to the report, averages 1,000 volumes monthly. The executive administrative committee is composed of Misses B. Tranfield, K. Hill, C. Galloway, J. A. Quale and F. Jones, and Messrs. J. C. Mason, E. Akenhead, C. Williams and R. S. Wood. Yearly fees were raised to $1 for adults; 50 cents for unemployed, and 25 cents for juveniles.

LEGION BRANCH MEETS AT SHAWNIGAN LAKE

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Nov. 8.—An excellent attendance marked the regular monthly meeting of the Malahat District Branch, No. 137, of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. The president, J. B. Bell, was in the chair. Three new members, J. Perry, R. Wicks and H. P. Wolfe were welcomed.

The Shawigan and District Dramatic Club, whose productions have been so successful, will put on a play in January, under the auspices of the Legion, the proceeds to go to the relief of needy veterans.

Wife (to victim of raging toothache): "Why don't you go and have it out, dear?"
Income Tax Official: "Don't be silly! I sent both the local dentists final demand notices last night!"

HAULAGE HANDS REFUSE OFFER

Will Not Accept Pay Equal to That Paid in Nanaimo Mines

CUMBERLAND, Nov. 8.—A mass meeting of the miners, here, concluded today after being in session about one hour without getting anywhere towards a settlement of the strike.

The haulage hands still refuse to accept the company's latest offer, which would put them on a basis with Nanaimo haulage hands, and want a 5 per cent increase for all men getting $4.22 a day and under. An effort was made to have a secret ballot on the question, but it proved futile.

Some feeling has crept into the discussions, as many of the miners who are anxious for a resumption of work resent the attitude of the haulage hands after a secret ballot had decided by a majority of forty-two that there be no strike. In their opinion it is not a strike but a walk-out.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES RECEIVE REPORTS

Work at Duncan Highly Satisfactory—Action Taken by Association Delegates Endorsed

DUNCAN, Nov. 8.—At last night's meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board, the trustees considered the reports of Inspector A. Sullivan, on the work of the various members of the high school teaching staff. These were all of a satisfactory nature, and the standing of the school was noteworthy amongst the high schools of the province. It was reported. The board decided to convey to the staff, through the school principal, the satisfaction of the trustees.

Specific complaints were laid before the board of the failure of certain parents to send their children, between the ages of seven and fifteen, to school. Open defiance had been encountered in one case, and the board gave instructions that prosecutions were to be undertaken unless the children concerned were educated as required by the School Act.

The chairman reported on a meeting of the mid-island trustees' Association, held at Nanaimo recently, and which was attended by Trustees Mrs. J. P. Leeming, A. J. Castle and himself. The board approved of the action taken by the delegates attending the meeting, and confirmed the decision for the Duncan board to become a member of this body.

Those attending last night's meeting were: Chairman O. T. Smythe and Trustees Mrs. Leeming, Colonel H. D. MacLaughlin, S. Allcorn and H. D. Evans. Trustee A. J. Castle was absent through illness.

Commemorating Remembrance Day

LADYSMITH, Nov. 8.—Remembrance Day will be commemorated this year on Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, at the War Memorial. A guard of honor from the 16th Canadian Scottish will be in attendance. The speakers will include Colonel Cy Peck, V.C., Canon J. Hinchliffe and Rev. C. McDiarmid, B.A.

LECTURE AT METHOSIN

To residents of Methosin who are interested in floral decorations of all descriptions, the lecture next Monday night should be most interesting. There are to be demonstrations on wreath making, corsage bouquets, table decoration, etc., by N. Pollock, under the auspices of the horticultural section of Methosin and District Community Club. Proceedings will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

DIED AT DUNCAN

DUNCAN, Nov. 8.—Many friends of Harry Walter Arthur will learn with regret of his sudden death at an early hour this morning, at the King's Daughters' Hospital. Mr. Arthur had been ill a very short time, death being due to pneumonia. He leaves to mourn his loss one son, William, and three daughters, Miss Annie and Miss Ivy at the family residence, and Mrs. D. Weeks and two grandchildren, Duncan.

GROCERY STORE IS AGAIN OPEN

Yesterday's Batchelor's Cash and Carry Store No. 1 opened its doors in a new location, just a few doors down from the original premises at 1322 Douglas Street.

Modern and up-to-date in every respect, the new store is well laid out, giving every facility for the convenience of patrons and efficient service. The proprietor, L. Batchelor, states that no change in policy or in personnel of the staff has been made.

The move was dictated by the alterations which will be shortly made to the block, close to the corner of Yates and Douglas.

GRANT IS MADE FOR CRANBROOK

Provincial Contribution of $2,100 Provided to Aid Relief Work

Hon. F. M. MacPherson confirmed yesterday a provincial grant of $2,100 to the city of Cranbrook under relief statutes, as half of the cost of materials in a number of projects to be carried out by relief labor.

The grant, it was explained, was in recognition of special circumstances at Cranbrook, in view of the relative absence of provincial works in that area.

Street grading, installation of curbs and asphalt will be carried out by the city, in one project; construction of a storm sewer in another; park improvements in a third project; excavation for a settling basin in the sewer system; and, finally, extension of six-inch sanitary sewers.

The materials involved will cost $4,200, of which the city of Cranbrook will pay half.

Newspaperman Is New President of National League

Ford Frick Named to Succeed John Heydler as Head of Baseball League—Goes Into Office for One-Year Term—Second Youngest Prexy in History of Organization

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP).—A young newspaperman from the farm lands of Indiana, Ford Christopher Frick, was named today as the ninth president of the National League, successor to John Heydler, and the most youthful man ever to attain the post.

In unanimity, the owners of the eight clubs in baseball's senior circuit elevated the thirty-nine-year-old head of the league's service bureau to the presidency, honored Heydler by creation of a new office for him for life as "chairman of the board," and appointed Harvey Traubman secretary and treasurer.

Heydler announced unexpectedly last Friday that ill-health was forcing him to relinquish the presidency after seventeen years. At Frick's request his term was set at one year.

SECOND YOUNGEST

The new president is the second youngest major league head in baseball history. Only Ban Johnson, who organized and became president of the American League in 1901, was younger at the time he took office—thirty-six.

In 1916, Frick began writing sports on The Colorado Springs Gazette, took over rehabilitation work for the army in Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming and Colorado in 1918, and returned to sports writing on The Colorado Springs Telegraph in 1919.

Frick joined the staff of The New York American in 1922, moved over to the sports pages of The New York Journal in 1923, and wrote baseball, as well as other sports, until he was appointed head of the National League Service Bureau last February.

California's New Race Track

The new San Mateo, Cal., peninsula race track, Bay Meadows, which was opened last Saturday, under the auspices of the California Jockey Club. Photos show scenes at the new coursing plant, the lower picture being an air view. The track was built by William Kyne, who is president of the Bay Meadows Club. Sixteen of the fastest sprinters in America faced the barrier in the opening day's feature race for a purse of $1,500, which went to Frisky Matron by a close margin.

Canada's Schoolboys Capture Five Firsts At Melbourne Games

Dominion's Representatives Chalk Up Forty-Nine Points to Lead Field by Good Margin—Howard McPhee Races to Win in Century

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Nov. 9 (CP).—Canada's schoolboy athletic team captured five first places and placed well in a third to chalk up a ten-point advantage in the first day of the intra-Empire sports at the Victoria and Melbourne Centenary games.

The Canadians earned forty-nine points with Victoria second with thirty-nine. New Zealand trailed with eight.

Eddie Ware, nineteen-year-old 185-pound junior star from Calgary, Alta., scored the first victory for the Canadian when he tossed the shot forty-six feet ten and three-quarter inches to better the existing Australian schoolboy record by seven feet.

CAPTURES CENTURY

Howard McPhee, stocky sprinter from Vancouver, hung up the second Canadian victory when he sped over the 100 yards in 10.2 seconds. Andy Zisla, of Toronto, Ontario, and Canadian schoolboy sprint champion, was second, barely a stride back of his teammate.

The showing of the two Canadians, which cleanly outdistanced their opposition, was rated as remarkable owing to the heavy condition of the track and the fact that they were running against a brisk wind.

The Canadians won third and fourth places in the 880-yard event, which was won by K. Brosnan, of Melbourne, with A. Pearce, also of Melbourne, second.

Tom Ferris, of London, Ont., placed third, barely a stride back of Pearce. Bob Mitchell, lanky, fair-haired youth from Toronto, and one of Canada's greatest schoolboy milers, placed fourth.

Brosnan's time was 2:07.7.

Ray Jensen, of Stevensville, Ont., Canadian schoolboy high jump champion, won that event after a jump-off with K. O. Wesley Evans, of Australia. Sam Richardson, the young colored lad from Toronto Central Tech, better known for his broad jumping ability and winner of the British Empire title in that class, placed third.

DOUBLE SPRINT HONORS

McPhee won double sprint honors when he flashed over the 220-yard route in 22.9. Bill Savage, of Hamilton, Ont., rated in second place just back of Zisla for Ontario sprint honors, finished third.

Johnny Loaring, Windsor, Ont., Ontario and Canadian champion timber tapper, captured the 120-yard hurdles in 16 seconds flat, just four-tenths of a second slower than the best time he has made in his native Dominion. Zisla placed third.

NORTH WARD XI LIFT HONORS

Defeats Boys' Central, 4-1, in Schools' Soccer Final at Athletic Park

Trouncing Boys' Central School, 4-1, yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, North Ward senior football eleven won the schools' championship trophy for the first time in many years. Heavier and more aggressive than their opponents, North Ward played the better soccer throughout the fixture and were deserving of victory.

The only score of the initial half came about fifteen minutes from the kick-off. Ishida, Boys' Central halfback, in endeavoring to clear headed the ball towards his own goal, and when the goalie, mis-kicked, the ball rolled over the line.

MUNROE SCORES TWO

Munroe, clever forward, made the count 2-0 for the eventual winners early in the second canto when he headed the ball into the goal after E. Greenwell had taken a perfect flag kick. Ten minutes later, Munroe added his second goal, this time on a penalty kick.

From the centre, Boys' Central came to life and after one or two dangerous attacks they finally scored when Albert Williams found the net with a fine shot at close range.

North Ward returned the offensive and "Nip" Sage bagged the final marker of the game shortly before the final whistle, to give his clubmates a 4-1 victory. B. Sage refereed and the teams were as follows:

North Ward—Sam, Dayton, Couch, Lee, Wallace, Hardy, E. Greenwell, "Nip" Sage, Munroe, N. Greenwell and A. Haines.

Boys' Central—Sutton, McDonald, James, W. Williams, Ishida, May, Barber, Acres, A. Williams, Evans and Engh.

PEDEN LEADS SIX-DAY RACE

Local Rider Teamed With Audy and LePage in Cleveland Bike Event

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8 (AP).—Torchy Peden, Jules Audy and Henri LePage gained an early lead, after eight teams of three men each started a six-day bicycle race, here, tonight at 8 p.m. (Eastern standard time), before a crowd of 5,000 in Public Auditorium.

Peden's team was the first to steal a lap on the field. The race was billed as the first in the United States with more than two men on a team. Only two members of each team are permitted on the boards at the same time.

The teams are as follows: Canadian—William (Torchy) Peden, Jules Audy and Henri LePage.

American—Charley Winter, Jimmy Walthour, Jr. and Fred Ottevaire. German—Heinz Vogel, Gustav Killian and Werner Miete.

Holland—Piet Van Kempen, Ernest Muller and Joseph Climey. American—Geoff Walker, Frank Bartlett and Tony Backman.

Italian—Swiss—Tom Saetta, Fioranti Baggio and Freddy Zack. Belgian—Rene Boogmans, Sacer Van Slambrouck and Marcel Boogmans.

British—Al Crossley, Tommy Flynn and Reggie Fielding.

Oaklands School Captures Senior Basketball Title

BATTLING hard to the final whistle, Oaklands girls' senior cage squad captured the school championship, yesterday afternoon, at Girls' Central School grounds, when they defeated South Park, defending champions, 27-23. The quietest set a fast pace throughout, with the final outcome always in doubt.

ARSENAL WILL FACE GRIMSBY IN MAIN GAME

First Division Leaders Have Hard Assignment—Other Matches Important

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—The champion Arsenal Club will have a struggle on its hands Saturday endeavoring to stay on top of the first division of the English Football League.

Saturday the gunners go to Grimsby Town to meet the recruits from the second division, who have been making a gallant stand.

The leaders will be handicapped by loss of Beasley, rightwinger, whose knee was badly cut a week ago, but the fishermen are in fine form.

Another feature match brings together Sunderland and Manchester City.

Only two points separate the first five teams. Stoke City, holding third place, travels to Leicester City, and it is possible the potters may again get into the top berth.

George Cammell, famous England international center forward, has been covered from a serious operation second-period goals by Barry and Dit Clapper, of the Bruin's ace line.

King Clancy tied it up on Buzz Boll's pass in the first minute of the third period. Dit Clapper was on the scoring end of a play with Barry midway through the period, to return to Boston a lead they held until Seibert's penalty and Doraty's brilliant play spelt defeat.

Leafs were without Joe Primeau, out for three weeks with an injured thumb.

Summary

First Period—1, Toronto, Thomas (14:05). Penalties: Conacher, Beattie.

Second Period—2, Boston, Barry (3:26); 3, Boston, Clapper (Beattie) (9:52). Penalties: O'Neill, Day.

Third Period—4, Toronto, Clancy (Boll), 50; 5, Boston, Clapper (Barry), 11:13; 6, Toronto, Boll (Doraty-Jackson), 16:01; 7, Toronto,

LEAFS COME FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT BOSTON BRUINS, 5-3

Ken Doraty, Diminutive Forward, Plays Leading Role in Team's Great Victory Over Frank Patrick's Squad—Last-Minute Rally Gives Hawks Win Over St. Louis, 3-1

MAPLE LEAF GARDENS, TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP).—The midgest nemesis of the Boston Bruins—Ken Doraty—leaped into the pinch for Toronto Maple Leafs tonight and, mainly through his heady play-making, the Leafs finished with a 5-3 victory in the opening game of the National Hockey League season.

Leading 3-2 with four minutes to go, Boston penalties paved the way for Doraty's star role. Babe Seibert drew a major when his stick cut Bill Thom's eye, and Marty Barry followed him with Andy Blair for scrapping, leaving Boston a man short, and the stage was set.

Doraty drew the defence out of position with the aid of Harvey Jackson, to let Buzz Boll in for the tying goal, then duplicated the play four seconds later for the game-winning goal by Charlie Conacher.

Hec Kilrea made it sure in the last minute when, with Andy Blair in the penalty box, he broke away with Busher Hollett and took the defenceman's pass for a scoring shot. Close to 11,000 turned out for the Leafs' first home game.

STITCHES NECESSARY

Smooth-working Bill Thom had three stitches taken in his injured eye but is expected to be kept out of the game. It was he who gave the Leafs a first-period lead with the only goal of the season—his second, scored out by Seibert.

King Clancy tied it up on Buzz Boll's pass in the first minute of the third period. Dit Clapper was on the scoring end of a play with Barry midway through the period, to return to Boston a lead they held until Seibert's penalty and Doraty's brilliant play spelt defeat.

Leafs were without Joe Primeau, out for three weeks with an injured thumb.

Summary

First Period—1, Toronto, Thomas (14:05). Penalties: Conacher, Beattie.

Second Period—2, Boston, Barry (3:26); 3, Boston, Clapper (Beattie) (9:52). Penalties: O'Neill, Day.

Third Period—4, Toronto, Clancy (Boll), 50; 5, Boston, Clapper (Barry), 11:13; 6, Toronto, Boll (Doraty-Jackson), 16:01; 7, Toronto, Conacher (Jackson-Doraty), 16:05; 8, Toronto, Kilrea (Hollett), 19:35. Penalties: Seibert (major), Barry Blair (2).

Line-ups follow:

Toronto	Position	Boston
Hainsworth	Goal	Thompson
Horne	Defence	Shore
Clancy	Defence	Seibert
Thoms	Centre	Barry
Boll	Wing	Clapper
Kilrea	Wing	Beattie

Toronto subs: Hollett, Day, Blair, Clancy, Cotton, Conacher, H. Jackson, Doraty, Kelly, A. Jackson, Metz.

Boston subs: Pusie, Sands, Stewart, Gagnon, Savage, O'Neill, Motter, Giroux, Emms.

Officials: Mike Rodden and Billy Bell.

HAWKS BEAT EAGLES

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8 (AP).—Major League hockey came to St. Louis tonight as 12,622 persons watched Chicago's world champion Black Hawks stage a last-minute rally to defeat the transplanted St. Louis Eagles, 3-1.

With the score tied one-all and less than five minutes to go in the final period, Tommy Cook, second-line Hawk centre, dived between the Eagle defence men and scored. One minute later Louis Trudel completed Chicago's winning drive by curving into centre ice to knock one past puddy Bill Beveridge, Eagle goalie.

Early in the game the Eagles managed to hold the Hawks on even terms. Chicago's defence, weakened considerably this season by trading of Lionel Conacher to Montreal Maroons, was knocked out of position several times.

Chicago drew first blood when Jimmy Gottselig, taking a pass from the speedster, Howie Morenz, fired the puck into the net in the second period.

Earl Roche, Eagle's fighting winger, tied the count four minutes later when he lifted a whistling shot into the corner of the net. Lorne Chabot, Hawk's veteran goalie, didn't even touch the rubber.

Line-ups follow:

St. Louis	Position	Chicago
Beveridge	Goal	Chabot
Bowman	Defence	Burke
Williams	Defence	Coulter
Kaminsky	Centre	Morenz
Finnigan	Wing	Gottselig
Shannon	Wing	Couture

St. Louis subs: Howe, Frew, Cook, Voss, Brydson, E. Roche, D. Roche, Ayres, Cowley.

Chicago subs: Cook, March, Thompson, Goldworthy, Locking, Kenny, Wiebe, Kendall, Trudel.

Officials: Bill Stewart and A. G. Smith.

Summary

First Period—No score. Penalties: Shannon (2), Coulter (major).

Second Period—1, Chicago, Gottselig (Morenz), 10:30; 2, St. Louis, E. Roche (Bowman), 14:35. Penalties: Trudel, Burke, D. Roche (2), Voss.

Third Period—3, Chicago, Cook (Burke), 15:45; 4, Chicago, Trudel (Cook), 16:45. Penalties: None.

Stops—Chabot, 11-12-14-34; Beveridge, 13-14-13-40.

MERALOMAS READY FOR BIG SERIES

Vancouver Grid Machine Goes Through Final Workout—Game Saturday

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—Coach "Hammy" Boucher tonight put his Vancouver Meralomas through their final scrimmage before the orange and black gridders meet Regina Roughriders here on Saturday in the first of the two-game series for the Western football title.

"The boys looked fine tonight," Hammy grinned enthusiastically after the practice. "With Wally Hammond back at snap and supplying the spark that puts football players on their toes, they should make this the best series the Coast has ever seen. Whether we win or not, we'll be in there fighting until the final whistle."

DEFENSIVE TRAINING

Boucher has been drilling his squad in a defence against the highly-efficient aerial game which Roughriders are reported to use.

Lanky Joe Ross, Meralomas great punting halfback, may be called on to do Spartan duty if the Roughriders solve the Coast's chief offensive threat, their end runs.

Boucher believes Ross can hold his own with the Regina punters, and with two fast-moving ends, Al and Ron Lowe, hopes to have an edge in the kicking department.

Tomorrow night the Meralomas will have a short talk, their final preparation for their Prairie opponents.

HEAD FOR COAST

REGINA, Nov. 9 (CP).—More confident than they have been in years, Regina Roughriders tonight were Vancouver-bound. At the coast city the Eastern Prairie sectional winners will engage Vancouver Meralomas, British Columbia titlists and conquerors of Alberta Varsity, in a two-game series for the senior Rugby championship of the West. The first game will be played Saturday, and the second on Monday.

Led by Greg Graselick, former McGill graduate and brilliant line-man, eight huskies, the pick of a red and black squad that went through the season undefeated, seek their sixteenth title in twenty-three years of competition for the Hugo-Ross trophy. A series of seven straight victories was broken last season when they bowed to Winnipeg.

Maroons Blank Rangers

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 8 (CP).—Montreal Maroons outplayed New York Rangers in their final exhibition match, here, tonight, to win, 4-0.

The Maroon won tied the standing in the six exhibition games. Two were tied, Rangers won two, and Maroons the other two.

No Decision Is Reached About Hockey League

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).

The Northwest Professional Hockey League's representatives adjourned tonight without reaching a decision on the league's composition this season.

Dr. Gordon Leitch, of Portland, president, announced that the meeting would continue tomorrow.

Delegates included Gordon "Duke" Keals, of Edmonton; Sam Timmins, Calgary; Guy Patrick, Vancouver; Hugh Caldwell, Seattle; and Bobbie Rowe, Portland.

5TH PLAYERS ARE INJURED

McInnes, Rowe and Engleson Doubtful Starters for Army Fixture

Gloom cast its shadow over the 5th Regiment Rugby camp yesterday, with the announcement that three of their star performers, Roddy McInnes, Paul Rowe and Bob Engleson, are doubtful starters for Saturday's all-army oval ball fixture, at Macdonald Park, with the Canadian Scottish.

Roddy McInnes, fullback of the gunners, is reported suffering with two injured fingers; Paul Rowe has an injured leg, while Bob Engleson has a lacerated forehead, following a hard training session yesterday evening, at the Royal Athletic Park.

In the Scottish camp it is an entirely different story, with the "kilties" prepared to trot out their strongest fifteen of the season in hopes of coping the game and the silverware, won last year by the 5th Regiment.

SCOTTISH LINE-UP

Manager Cyril Wightman, in releasing his line-up for the important fixture, feels confident that his proteges will turn back the gunners. The team follows: Ted Colgate, Jack Horne, Larry Henderson, Campbell Forbes, Art Chapman, Bob Tye, Max Billingsley, Bill Campbell, George Knight, John Rockingham, Bruce McGregor, Sam Gardner, Dick George, Jack Banks and Ian Ackland. Reserve, "Chuck" Copeland.

Swimming Trials Carded Tonight

Relay swimming teams from the Esquimalt High School and the Sir James Douglas elementary educational institution will meet at the Crystal Grotto in the local elimination trials at 7:30 o'clock. In the local elimination trials to decide which squad shall represent Victoria in the forthcoming gala at Vancouver, W. T. M. Barrett announced yesterday that no girls' teams had entered.

Nearing End of Fistic Trail

BILLY TOWNSEND

BLOND-HAIRED Vancouver fighter, who, at one time was holder of the Canadian welterweight championship, but dropped down the fistic ladder some considerable distance Wednesday night in Vancouver when he dropped a fifteen-round decision to Gordie Wallace, another Mainlander. The bout was billed as a Dominion welterweight championship mix, but the Canadian Boxing Federation states it will not recognize the winner as the new titleholder. Townsend was heading somewhere in fight circles some years ago, but has slipped badly and is just about at the end of the trail, one who eventually leads into oblivion.

North Ward returned the offensive and "Nip" Sage bagged the final marker of the game shortly before the final whistle, to give his clubmates a 4-1 victory. B. Sage refereed and the teams were as follows:

North Ward—Sam, Dayton, Couch, Lee, Wallace, Hardy, E. Greenwell, "Nip" Sage, Munroe, N. Greenwell and A. Haines.

Boys' Central—Sutton, McDonald, James, W. Williams, Ishida, May, Barber, Acres, A. Williams, Evans and Engh.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST TENNIS RANKINGS RELEASED

Dranga Is Listed In No. 1 Position By Net Officials

Seattle Star Takes Premier Berth for Season Due to Brilliant Showing in Major Events — Bud Hocking Is Rated Sixth — Muriel Nicholas, Portland, Tops Women's List

Sweeping through the Northwest in brilliant fashion, picking up championships in British Columbia, Washington, and as far south as Oregon, Mel Dranga, ace Seattle tennis player, was placed at the top of the rankings of the Pacific Northwest Lawn Tennis Association, according to the ratings released yesterday by officials of the organization. Dranga's ranking was entirely expected by net experts from all parts, and therefore when the list was announced and the Seattle player at the top of it, it was no surprise to the tennis fraternity. Muriel Nicholas, of Portland, little known in British Columbia, was given top place among the fair sex. When local tennis officials were informed of this yesterday, they stated that they knew little of the Rose City racket-wielder.

The rankings are based on the showing the players made during the season in the following tournaments: Portland City, Western Oregon, Oregon State, Pacific Northwest, City of Seattle, Western Canadian, City of Vancouver, British Columbia championships, and the Starr-Reynolds Starr matches. Most of those ranked competed in these events, and their playing attracted the eyes of the selection committee.

HOCKEY SIXTH
Only one Victorian was ranked, Ross "Bud" Hocking, who topped the provincial ratings last year, was given sixth position. Hocking found the going tougher than ever in the Pacific Northwest.

Ranked in second position came Wayne Sabin, sensational young Portlander, who blazed a glorious trail through Oregon, Washington and finally British Columbia. S. Lee, another Seattle star, was given third position, while Ossie Ryall candidate for a position on the Canadian Davis Cup team, of Vancouver, was next in order. Jack Brown was fifth, and then the Victorian, Hocking, while Colin Milne, young Vancouver player, was next to the local ace, Henry Rosenberg, Tacoma, was seventh, and H. Clegg eighth, while Don Lewis, of Portland, took No. 10 position.

MISS DEACON SECOND
Next to Muriel Nicholas came Carolyn Deacon, Vancouver girl, who went East this summer and lifted the Canadian women's championship. Another Mainlander, Eleanor Young, who was runner-up to Miss Deacon in the Dominion tournament at Toronto, was given No. 3 berth, and Marjorie Greig, also of Vancouver, was fourth. Ruth Ronald, Betty DeLacy, Hazel Schenck, Susie Milne and Miss N. Milton were ranked in the order mentioned.

Mel Dranga and Wayne Sabin topped the men's doubles brigade, with Lloyd Nordstrom and Windie Langille, of Seattle, in second slot. Jack Brown and Colin Milne, of Vancouver, came third, and another Mainlander duo, Sidaway and Cameron, took fourth and final rating. Sabin also topped the junior singles list. The rest followed in this order: Darrell Kelly, John Chapman, Bryan Page, Ken Cole, Dave Greeley and Jack Mitchell.

Tenpin Bowler In Great Form

Local tenpin bowling mark of 750 for three games was on the records today in the name of Stuart Shephard, an all-around athlete. Last night, in a league game, Shephard went out and marked up a total of 750 for three games, seven more than the eighteen-year-old record and 131 short of perfection. Shephard rolled 234, 259 and 256. The American Bowling Association record is 823.

OLYMPICS WIN OVER WINDSOR

Detroit Hockey Squad Opens International League With 3-1 Victory Over Bulldogs

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (CP).—In a fast, rough game, which kept about 600 spectators on their feet through three periods, Detroit Olympics tonight opened the International Hockey League season here by defeating Windsor Bulldogs, 3-1.

Detroit took the lead in the first period on goals by Ron Moffatt and Wilf Starr, of Winnipeg. Starr scored on a pass from King. Windsor tallied in the second on a shot by Cain. In the final period, Modere "Mud" Brunet, last year with Winnipeg Falcons, scored Detroit's last goal.

Both goalies played well, Earl Robertson having thirty-four stops and being brilliant when his teammates were off the ice.

Tomkins, for the Olympics, stopped twenty-seven shots.

PANAMA BOY GIVEN CALL AGAINST KEN

Baby Quintana Decisions
Korean in Main Bout of Eliminations

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 (CP).—Displaying power in both hands, dusky Carlos "Baby" Quintana, of Panama, tonight outpointed Joe Tel Ken, of Korea, in the main ten-round bout of the bantamweight elimination tournament sponsored by the National Boxing Association and the Montreal Athletic Commission to declare a champion to succeed Panama Al Brown.

Nat Liftin, of Pittsburgh, disposed of Eugene Huat, of Paris, in the second of the elimination bouts, while Frankie Martin, of Montreal, pounded out a close decision over Lefty Gwynne, of Toronto, in the other ten-rounder. By his victory Martin won the Canadian bantamweight title, but on condition he defends it within thirty days.

The three judges all gave their votes to the chocolate-colored Panama youngster. Utilizing a two-fisted attack, although showing a preference for his flashing right, Quintana started and finished at a fast pace. The Korean, Tel Ken, punched away steadily and piled up points in the middle of the bout when Quintana slowed up.

HOLDS EDGE

With an advantage in reach, the Panama fighter held an edge in the first three rounds, pushing the Korean around the ring at will. In the fourth, however, the Korean opened up and took the offensive, having an advantage in the next three rounds. The seventh saw them slugging toe to toe throughout the round, but in the eighth Quintana put more power into his punches, only to have Tel Ken take most of them on his gloves and elbow.

Quintana came to life again in

Securities Turn Trifle Weak at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (CP).—Post-election demand for stocks slackened today and the market sold off a trifle after a four-day advance.

American Can, American Smelting, Du Pont, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Coca Cola and other shares prominent on the preceding rally eased for net losses of fractions to a point.

Building and motor shares held well. Eastman Kodak touched a new peak above 100, finishing fractionally higher.

United States Smelting lost 2 1/2 as enthusiasm for so-called inflation stocks cooled.

Canadian issues generally were fractionally lower. Lakeshore added 1-4 point.

The bond market was quiet and fairly steady today in a fractional uptick.

Te foreign department was dull.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE SOFTER

Big Golds Irregular—Others Lose Ground—Silvers Move Narrowly

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP).—A half dozen secondary gold shares and some of the penny stocks occupied the spotlight today on the mining department of the Toronto Exchange. Volume was close to 700,000 shares.

Hollinger, slightly erratic, lost 40 cents at 20.20. Bralorne and Pioneer held to the up side by 10 cents each. Silvers were narrow. Niipissing lost 13 cents.

Noranda was soft, dropping 1.00 to 32.25, but Hudson's Bay gained 55 cents to 12.55. Mining Corporation added 16 cents and Falconbridge 5.

In the medium-priced gold issues Little Long Lac lost 25 to 5.35, God's Lake 7 to 2.18 and Gunnar 6 1/2 to 88.

In the penny group Thompson-Cadillac closed at 23 for a net loss of 7 cents. Other soft spots in the group were Canadian Malartic, B.R.X. and Bobjo.

WHEAT CLOSES OFF ONE CENT

Futures Slip Sharply in Late Trading at Winnipeg Grain Exchange

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8 (CP).—Bearishness of Chicago more than offset the bullishness of Liverpool in deciding the price trend on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Wheat futures prices skidded sharply in the late dealings, to close 1/2 to 7/8 cents lower, December at 84 1/2-8, May at 83 1/2-8 and July at 84 1/2-8, the day's lowest levels.

Export sales, today, totaled only 300,000 bushels.

The cash grain market was slightly higher.

STOCKS TURN WEAKER

Pioneer Gold Gains at Vancouver—Weakness Develops in Rest of List

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—Support was lacking on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, today, and losses of from 1 to 5 cents were general in all sections. Pioneer Gold was practically the only exception, and gained 25 at 12.00, in fair trading.

Bradian and Cariboo Gold each lost 5, B.R.X., Nicola and Vidette were all off 3, and United Empire was down 1-2 of a cent at 12 1/4 in light trading. Reno was the most active issue and closed unchanged. Other shares were off around a cent or less.

B.C. Nickel was active and dropped 3 cents to 51. Pend Oreille was down 5 and Colomela lost 4 cents. Beaver Silver and Noble Five each eased 1-2 of a cent.

Royalite sold at 15.25 and closed with a net loss of 75 at 15.00. Home Oil was off 7 at 55 and Calgary and Edmonton were unchanged.

Specialty Issues at Eastern Exchanges Gain as Others Drop

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 (CP).—Spurred forward by possible government action to prevent export of newsprint at a figure below cost, paper issues held the spotlight during today's session of the Montreal Stock Exchange.

St. Lawrence Paper preferred rose 3-4 points, St. Lawrence Corporation, 25 cents at 1.50, the preferred a point at 6 1/2. Howard Smith preferred a point at 73 and Bathurst Paper up 3-4 at 5. Associated Breweries preferred jumped 4 points to a new peak at 101 and Bell Telephone rose 2 1/2 points to 124 1/2.

Consolidated Smelters staged a rise of 6 points at 136.

Nickel, Hollinger, Brazilian Traction, Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" and "B" were off fractions.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP).—Oil shares stepped out smartly today in the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange. Inter-listeds were weary.

Ford "A" eased 1-4 to 24 1/8. Canadian Pacific Railway, 1-4 to 11 7/8 and nickel, 3-8 to 22 3/4. Smelters retained a gain of 1 point.

Distillers at 14 7/8 was down 3-8 and Walkers common lost 7-8 to 23 3/8.

Virginia Vane Says:

DIFFERENCE IN AGES A HANDICAP AS YEARS GO ON

Dear Virginia Vane: I am very much in love with my boy friend, but am terribly afraid that the difference in our ages is almost too great to be overcome. He is ten years younger than I am, and though I act much younger than my thirty-two years, and he older than twenty-two, I feel that the difference is still very real and that he will eventually find someone younger to love.

Would your experience indicate that a marriage between two people so far apart in age could possibly be a successful one? We have talked this difficulty over, and he seems to think that I am foolish to worry so; that he is old for his age and that he finds no companionship with younger girls, and that he loves me so much that this major difference will adjust itself after marriage.—G.

I am sorry, but I must tell you that the success of a marriage such as you contemplate is the exception rather than the rule. I have known several such marriages, but though they are often successful for a time, in the long run they do not work out. A woman's married life revolves almost completely around her husband and his interests, and when, because of her advancing years, she is unable to receive stimulus from her husband's activities or she is physically unable to keep up with them, she loses her zest for life quickly. She either becomes an object of her young husband's sympathy, or he turns away from his home for a companion in his activities. When the man is the older, however, the chances for his success are greater. The interests of the couple under the leadership of the man slow down together. The man starts to put the brakes on first and in accordance with her habitual adaptability, the wife feels no restraint. By the time you have reached forty you will have found a lot of things that interest you for their very stability, while your young husband will be full of the enthusiasms that you now find important.

Pick out one of your acquaintances that has reached forty and see how many interests your thirty-two years have in common with her greater age. I'll bet not many. Then try to realize how difficult it would be for her to adopt her way of living to your present standards. That is

It is possible that your husband would continue to love you devotedly, but no longer finding a "pal" in you he will either show his devotion by being your job if you marry this young man.

And there is one more consideration that makes most of these marriages end in failure, and that is the presence of the mother-son complex. It is very important that the love prompting such a marriage should be strong and enduring, and completely normal. However, this is generally not the case, and the desire of the young man to enjoy the protection and experience of an older woman often masquerades as true love. And the woman may very easily mistake her desire to protect and help her young friend, for romantic devotion. I wish I could tell you to go ahead, and that an intelligent approach to this problem would make your marriage successful, but I cannot honestly do so. It is better that you see the weakness of this alliance now, than to be rudely convinced of it five years hence.

DESPERATE BOY FRIEND SHOULD TEMPER HIS ADORATION

B.L.: There can be no point in your continually butting your head against the stubborn selfishness of this girl. Women generally are attracted to strength in their men and you are being anything but strong in your present attitude toward her. She'll not tell you whether your love is at all reciprocated, and either she is extremely selfish, keeping you around because you flatter her with your abject devotion, or she is too proud to admit she has a feeling for you.

Whichever is her real state of mind, it is much better that you get over your desperation, and the best way to achieve this desirable estate is to remove her from your mind for the time being. Stay away until you have conquered the feeling that your life depends on her favor. It may hurt for a time, but remember that you are displaying strength and the more it hurts you to stay away, the greater your strength. She is bound to admire and respect you for it, and very probably find in this display of manliness, the one quality that will make you irresistible to her. In your present state of devotion, you are quite a responsibility for a young girl to take on. Can you imagine what would happen if she gave you any encouragement? Even though she might care for you she would be sure to lose her mind, and you would be sure to lose your own mind exactly.

Perhaps as soon as she finds your love assuming more normal limits, she will find it easy to tell you she really cares for you. It is not necessary that you adopt an attitude of unity toward her in this contemplated separation; on the contrary, it might be well to send her a nice remembrance, such as flowers, once in a while, to tell her that though you still love her, your days of absolute dependence are over. Good luck.

Lender: The fact that the book was one of your treasures should be enough incentive to write this boy a note. You would be very foolish to let your note suggest any more than a desire to recover your book, as he has shown himself lacking in the first principles of decency, and to entertain any romantic hopes for his reformation would be exceedingly weak-minded.

AID GYROS IN HAMPER LISTS

Central Exchange to Give Assistance and Calls on Others to Help

The distribution of Christmas hampers in Greater Victoria this Christmastide will be handled by the Gyro Club of the city. At a meeting called by the Central Exchange, which acts as a clearing house in connection with all types of assistance to those in need, it was decided yesterday to look to the Gyro Club to handle the hampers and that in order to facilitate this good work, the heartiest co-operation will be afforded by the Central Exchange.

The wish was expressed that all organizations co-operating with the exchange should be requested to give every information at their disposal to the Gyros as soon as convenient so that as much overlapping as possible would be avoided.

P. E. Winslow, head of the Central Exchange, informed the representatives of the Gyro Club that any information which the exchange had would be at the disposal of the Gyros in the praiseworthy work they were undertaking.

AVOID DUPLICATION
H. L. Butteris, secretary of the Gyro Club, was present at the meeting and informed the members that any organizations like churches, etc., which were going to send out hampers would be assisting materially in the work in hand if they would give the Gyros the information so that duplication would be avoided.

tion would reach the Gyros through the Central Exchange was not deemed a satisfactory mode of procedure in regard to the Christmas hampers, inasmuch as there would be too much time lost. Mr. Butteris said that the Gyros, when the actual work of getting the hampers ready and sending them out arrived, would be running at top speed. The organization that he represented had the plans well in hand and would, when the actual packing and delivery was carried out, be working in large part at night.

CHRISTMAS HAMPERS
He wanted it understood that the work to hand pertained to Christmas hampers only. The Gyros were not wanting to usurp any other task and, therefore, must not be construed as clashing in any way with the Central Exchange's work.

No decision was reached with regard to standard hampers, it being pointed out that it was impossible where a large part of the materials used were donated, to carry out this arrangement.

On the motion of Rev. A. deB. Owen the thanks of the meeting were extended to the Gyro Club for undertaking the work that it was now doing and the wish was expressed that all societies that could furnish any information would communicate with the Gyros hamper office when the announcement was made that it was ready for work.

She was one of those nagging wives, but was aware of her fault. One day she attended a lecture on "A Smiling Face Wins Through." The lecture impressed her so much that she decided to try an experiment. Consequently, when her husband came down to breakfast next morning, he was met by a beaming smile. For a moment he stood dumbfounded in the doorway; then he collapsed into an armchair.

"Gracious," he said quickly, "she's

Little Bedtime Stories

Reddy Fox Is Started

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Jerry Muskrat hadn't been so tickled with himself, with his own smartness, since he finished that fine new house in the Smiling Pool. Never since he could remember had he taken more real pleasure in work than he did in the digging of this tunnel, the tunnel from a certain drainage ditch to that part of Farmer Brown's garden where were rows and rows of splendid carrots.

"Jerry," said he to himself as he worked, "you are a very clever fellow. You certainly are a very clever fellow. You are going to have all the carrots you want for the winter in spite of the fact that they grow a long way from the Smiling Pool, and you are going to get them with very little risk. Yes, you certainly are clever."

All the time Jerry kept right on digging, stopping only to eat and sleep. He wasted no time. Jerry is a great believer in thrift, and he knows that wasting time is one of the worst kinds of thriftlessness. Jerry is one of those wise persons who once having started a thing keeps at it until it is finished. So the tunnel grew and grew until at last Jerry felt sure he must be right under those delicious carrots which were growing in rows and rows. So he began to dig up and presently he popped right out of the ground just where he wanted to among the carrots. Then far enough back to be quite safe he dug a snug little store room just to one side and connected with the tunnel.

All this time Reddy Fox had been growing worse and worse tempered. You remember it was he who had first told Jerry about those carrots. Reddy remembered it, too, and every time he thought of it he ground his teeth. Every time he visited those carrots he saw where Jerry Muskrat had dug some up. He was sure that Jerry got there by means of the little drainage ditches which Farmer Brown had dug long ago to drain his land of water when there was too much and carry it off to the Laughing Brook.

At first he thought it would be an easy matter to catch Jerry. All he would have to do would be to watch at a place in the drainage ditch where there was no overhanging grass. Jerry would have to pass there, and then all he, Reddy, would need to do would be to spring right down on Jerry's back. So he found just such a place and then lay down on the bank and watched and watched. He watched in the night and he watched in the daytime, but never once did he catch so much as a glimpse of Jerry Muskrat. You see this was during the time that Jerry was digging that tunnel, and so didn't go back to his home in the Smiling Pool.

Then one moonlight night after watching until his patience was at an end, Reddy trotted over to the place where the carrots grew, and there in the moonlight between two rows sat Jerry Muskrat. The sight was so unexpected that it actually startled Reddy. It startled him so that he made a little noise. Jerry turned and saw him.
